INTERNATIONAL LABOUR OFFICE. EXAMINATION.
The International Labour Office of the League of Nations intends to hold an Examination in London in September, 1921, to fill a very limited number of Vacancies on its Staff in Geneva.
The standard required is equivalent to that of Class I. of the British Civil Service. Successful candidates will not be required to take up their duties in Geneva before the 1st January, 1922. The commencing salary is 14,000 Swiss francs, equivalent approximately to £575 per annum. Candidates must be between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive. Men and women are equally eligible.
All candidates will be required to have a good general education and a thorough knowledge of French. Account will be taken of scientific and University qualifications, and of administrative experience.
Consideration will also be given to a knowledge of languages other than French.
Papers will be set with a view to testing the candidates' ability in the use of the English language and their knowledge of economic and social questions.
Canvassing, either directly or indirectly, will immediately disqualify a candidate.
Applications for further particulars should be addressed in writing to the London Correspondent of the International Labour Office, Mr. J. K. HERBERT, 26 Buckingham Gate, London, S.W. 1.

After providing for the foregoing legacies, the Testatrix directed her Trustees to divide the remainder of her residuary estate, or the income thereof until sold, between the following charitable institutions, namely:—
The Dublin Medical Mission, Chancery place, Dublin;
The Dublin Working Boys' Home and Harding Technical School, Lord Edward street, Dublin; and
The Adelaide Hospital, Peter street, Dublin;
and that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the various charitable institutions mentioned in her Will should be a sufficient discharge to her Executors and Trustees for the payment of either the legacy or share of her residuary estate bequeathed to each of them.
And the Testatrix appointed as Executors and Trustees of said Will William Houghton Fry, of 14 Lower Mount street, Dublin, Solicitor; William Rochfort, of Cahir Abbey, Cahir, in the County of Tipperary, F.S.I., Land Agent; and Sir William Fry, of Nevin, Hook Heath, Woking, in the County of Surrey, D.L., Solicitor.
And the Testatrix died on or about the 27th day of January, 1921, without having altered or revoked said Will, and Probate thereof was granted to the said Executors by the Principal Registry, King's Bench Division (Probate) of the High Court of Justice in Ireland, on the 12th day of April, 1921.
Dated this 9th day of June, 1921.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—The anti-cyclone off South-Western Ireland is spreading North-Eastward somewhat, and over England and Ireland fair, and rather warm weather is probable for the next few days, with winds mainly from between West and North. In Scotland some showers are not unlikely in the West, with South-Westerly winds.

Ireland.—Moderate Northerly to North-Westerly winds; fair; visibility mainly good; rather warm.

Imperial Defence.

In reply to a question in the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Austen Chamberlain announced that the first meeting of the Imperial Conference, which was to have been held on Thursday, had been postponed until the beginning of next week. Mr. Lloyd George is suffering from the effects of a severe chill and his medical advisers will not allow him to resume work for some days. Furthermore, the Canadian delegates have not arrived, and the Government is anxious that the Conference shall begin its labours with a full attendance. The Conference will be without parallel in the Empire's history. For the first time in peace the leading statesmen of the British Commonwealth will meet for the purpose of an Imperial stock-taking. The immediate problems of the present will claim some of their attention, but their principal task will be to prepare the Empire for the trials of the future. To that end many changes must be made. During the last few years the whole fabric of the Empire has been re-woven. Canada, Australia, South Africa, and New Zealand no longer are colonies, or even dependencies, of Great Britain. They are self-governing and virtually independent States, whose representatives signed the Treaty of Versailles in their own right; and they have been admitted to full and unfettered membership of the League of Nations. They are bound to the mother country by the Monarchy and by the ties of language, blood, and common ideals. Otherwise they are free to shape their destinies into moulds of their own choice. Every one of them has its individual problems to solve, and from the old stock of English, Irish, Scots, and Welsh they are evolving new and vigorous races which are destined to play important parts on the political stage of the future.

One of the first duties of the Conference will be, so far as possible, to define the relations of the Dominions to the motherland and to draw up some scheme or constitution by means of which the Empire will be able, in the first place, to coordinate the work of domestic reconstruction, and, in the next, to present a united front to the world. The task will be anything but easy. The Briton, whether he inhabits London, Sydney, or Toronto, has an instinctive prejudice against written constitutions. His world-power has been built up through a long series of fortunate accidents. His law has created itself without the aid of pedantic scribes, and the elasticity of his unwritten code of government has enabled him to develop his citizenship from the serfdom of feudalism into his glorious birthright of to-day. The slightest attempt to impose anything in the nature of a written constitution on the Empire will be met with strenuous resistance. Yet the prospect must be faced. The Empire, in the old sense of the word, exists no longer; but the men who will meet in conference next week represent a group of young nations whose interests are so closely bound up in the interests of Great Britain that they cannot afford to lose touch with His Majesty's Government. These growing nations have few illusions. They know that the millennium is still a long way off and that, unhappily, the story of the "last" war has not yet been told. They are thinking, in their wisdom, of the next war and of their own chances of survival when the tocsin sounds again. Australia, Africa, Canada, and New Zealand—these are lands on which ambitious hearts are set, and the armed might of Britain's power is their only shield. The problem of Imperial defence overshadows all others. Its solution concerns us all alike and in its cause some sacrifice must be made.

Reduced to its simplest terms, the problem is that of the Navy. The existence of every Dominion, as well as that of the British Isles, is derived from sea-power, and, but for the Fleet, it is safe to say that none of them could maintain its independence for a twelvemonth. The Imperial Conference, therefore, must decide the future of the Navy. So far as these islands are concerned, the naval problem virtually solved itself on the day when Admiral von Reuter scuttled the German Fleet at Scapa Flow. That act left Britain in complete control of Europe's seas and removed, let us hope for ever, the growing menace of the German Ocean. The destruction of the German Fleet, however, transferred the centre of naval activity to the Pacific. Here lie three of our Dominions, every one of which has a vital interest in the feverish preparations of Japan and the United States of America. Australia, New Zealand, and Canada must safeguard themselves against a possible war in the Pacific, and the British Navy is the only weapon on which they can rely. Unfortunately, the vicissitudes of war and a prodigal philanthropy have beggared the old country. To-day Britain is so poor that she cannot even afford a Minister without a portfolio, much less a Navy on an Imperial scale. If the Dominions want such a Navy, they must be prepared to take their share of its cost. That is the situation in a sentence. Before the war New Zealand was the only Dominion that made a direct contribution to the British Fleet. The Dreadnought bearing her name was the only unit which was not provided by the British taxpayer. He has come now to the end of his tether. He is proud of the Dominions, of their splendid record in the past, and their noble mission in the future; but he has no money. Consequently he is powerless to give them adequate defence without their financial aid.

Athens and Angora.

While some of the alarming statements which have been published in certain quarters cannot be justified, it is undeniable that the situation in Asia Minor has taken a serious turn. On the one hand, there is the unbridled recklessness of the Turkish Nationalists. Since they broke the Greek offensive at Eskishehr in the spring their attitude towards Europe has changed. The moderate men have disappeared from the Angora Government and discretion has been thrown to the winds. The agreements with France and Italy have been torn up and the solemn undertaking to release the British prisoners has not been fulfilled. The avowed policy of Mustapha Kemal and his followers is to create an alliance between Moscow, Angora, Teheran, and Kabul as the preliminary to the expulsion of Europe from Asia. This ambitious programme will not be realised, but the Allies cannot afford to ignore it. On the other hand, we have King Constantine's ambitious plans. At the moment he is on the way to Smyrna to join his armies. Since their defeat at Eskishehr they have been reorganised and re-equipped; and the Greek monarch thinks that they are in a position to take an ample revenge on their old enemy. On that point there is much room for doubt. If the conflict was merely between Greeks and Turks for the possession of the strip of territory that lies behind Smyrna, we could afford to leave them to settle their own quarrel. Much graver problems, however—the fate of the Treaty of Sèvres and, possibly, the control of the Straits—are at stake. In these matters the Allies have vital interests, and each of the combatants is angling for the support of one of the Great Powers. Greece thinks that Britain will depart from her attitude of strict neutrality and will send men and munitions to her aid. That, we are convinced, is a wholly erroneous view. There is no sympathy in these islands with an adventure on the scale that Constantine has planned; and certainly his country has no claim on Britain's assistance. Mustapha Kemal, on the other hand, looks to France for help. The situation derives its gravity from the failure of France and Britain to devise a common policy for the Near East. Athens and Angora are making capital out of the divergent views held by the members of the Entente and every day that passes is pregnant with danger. It is humiliating for France and Britain that they should be played off against each other in this fashion. Their interests in the Near East are not identical, but it should not be an impossible task for statesmen to reach an agreement. The situation has developed so rapidly that the time has arrived when it is imperative that Britain shall announce that her friendship for France will not be impaired out of regard for Constantine and that France shall announce that Kemal is powerless to come between her and Britain. Once an agreement has been reached both of the combatants will be reduced to a more reasonable frame of mind, and the way will be open for another conference at which all the matters in dispute can be settled.

Unemployment in Ireland.

Increasing unemployment is a natural result of Ireland's present conditions of crime, boycott, and disorder. Where the industry of lawlessness flourishes all other industry declines. During the last few months the number of unemployed persons in this country has advanced steadily. In the middle of April 116,285 persons were registered at the Labour Exchanges. At the beginning of the present month the total had increased to 131,368 persons. Between the two dates nearly 10,000 men and more than 5,000 women registered themselves as applicants for work. The rate of increase has diminished in recent weeks; but this fact is explained, at least in part, by an exodus of skilled and unskilled labour to Great Britain. Ninety per cent. of these 131,368 persons are drawing the unemployment benefit. They not only contribute nothing to the mass of national production, but are a tax upon the whole organisation of Irish industry and commerce. The tax, peculiarly onerous at the present time, is about to be increased. To-morrow the House of Commons will be asked to pass the second reading of the Unemployment Insurance Bill. The Government has decided to reduce the State's vast expenditure on the unemployment benefit by demanding larger contributions from the other parties to the contract. After the 4th July the employer's contribution will be increased from fourpence to eightpence a week and that of the employed man from fourpence to sevenpence. Moreover, the benefit for men will be reduced from twenty shillings to fifteen shillings. These changes are necessary, but they cannot fail to aggravate the problem of unemployment in Ireland.

Virginia Moll.

The organisation of relief funds on an enormous scale after the Armistice furnished many opportunities to the ingenious swindler. According to the Berlin Correspondent of the Morning Post, it is now alleged that one of the most successful swindlers was Miss Virginia Moll. This German-American woman—her mere name would have excited suspicion in any reader of Defoe—professed to be the representative of a group of rich Americans who were anxious to feed hungry Germany. At the time the German Government exercised a rigid control over the import and distribution of food supplies. Miss Moll, however, in her capacity as lady bountiful, enjoyed a free hand. She was granted licences for the import of foodstuffs, free railway transport, and many other facilities. She used them, as will be charged by the prosecution at her forthcoming trial, in order to sell imported food to the best advantage in her own interest. The goods were imported free of duty, and, as there was an eager and unlimited demand for them, it is assumed that Miss Moll and her German confederates made huge profits. They maintained offices in Berlin and a staff of clerks who were supposed to be employed in tasks of charitable distribution. The German part of Miss Moll seems to have appreciated the little weaknesses of German officialdom. She is said to have made herself persona grata in Government offices by giving packages of food—crumbs from America's philanthropic table—to hungry servants of the State.

THE DINNER TO LORD CARSON.

The Prime Minister has been invited to preside at the dinner to be given to Lord Carson on Thursday at the House of Commons. Should Mr. Lloyd George, however, be unable to attend, Mr. Austen Chamberlain will take the chair in his place.

OBITUARY.

CAPTAIN SIR HARRY VESEY BROOKE, D.L.

The death took place on Saturday, in his 76th year, of Captain Sir Harry Vesey Brooke, J.P., D.L., of Fairley, Aberdeenshire, son of the late Sir Arthur Brooke, Bart., Colebrooke, Brookeborough, and a great uncle of the present baronet, Captain Sir Basil S. Brooke, D.L., M.C. Sir Harry Brooke was a member of a famous fighting family, and was formerly a Captain in the 92nd Gordon Highlanders. Three of his four sons were killed in the war—Captain J. A. O. Brooke, V.C.; Captain H. B. Brooke, of the Gordon Highlanders, and Sub-Lieutenant P. H. Brooke, R.N.—while his other son, Captain Arthur Brooke, Indian Army, was severely wounded. His son-in-law, Captain N. C. G. Cameron, of the Cameron Highlanders, was also killed in action. Sir Harry took an active part in war work, and as a distinction for his services as Chairman of the Aberdeenshire and District Local Emergency Committee he was recently presented at the command of the King, by Brigadier-General Sir Douglas Dawson, with the insignia of a Knight Commander of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire (Civil Division). Deceased's sister, Constance Henrietta, wife of Colonel Doran, Lurganbrae, Brookeborough, pre-deceased him last year. The funeral takes place in Aberdeenshire.

SIR BERNARD OPPENHEIMER, BART.

Sir Bernard Oppenheimer, Bart., one of the leading figures in the diamond industry, died yesterday morning at his residence, at Stoke Poges, after a brief illness. Sir Bernard was 55 years of age. He founded the diamond cutting factories for the employment of disabled soldiers at Brighton, Cambridge, Fort William, and Wrexham, and was created a baronet in the New Year Honours list this year.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

It now seems doubtful whether the Prime Minister can go to Belfast for the opening of the Northern Parliament, since the meeting of the Imperial Conference will have to be considered. If the Dominion Premiers intend to go to Belfast, it will mean that the Conference must be adjourned for some days, and, in that case, Mr. Lloyd George will be free. But, seeing that some of the Premiers are anxious to return home as speedily as possible, it is unlikely that they will agree to an adjournment. A deputation from their body to the Ulster Parliament is far more likely.

The first incident in the House of Commons this afternoon, after the Speaker had taken the chair, was the motion by Colonel Leslie Wilson for a new writ for North Down to elect a member in the place of Mr. T. W. Brown, who has accepted the post of Solicitor-General for Ireland. Colonel Guinness asked Mr. Chamberlain what was the surplus available for Ireland on the basis of the estimated yield of this year's Budget. Mr. Chamberlain promised a statement shortly on this important matter. Colonel Guinness also asked whether any decision had been reached as to the discontinuance of reprisals in Ireland, but the Chief Secretary said that the Commander-in-Chief had issued orders that any such action must be based on strictly military grounds. This does not carry the matter much further.

Mr. T. P. O'Connor had put down a private notice question concerning the week-end events in Belfast, but Sir Hamar Greenwood pointed out that he had had no time to receive a reply to the inquiries he had made. Mr. O'Connor suggested that there was ample material in the evening papers for an answer, but, as Sir H. Greenwood pointed out, that was not evidence good enough for the Irish Office. He had officials whom he must rely upon to give him the information required.

Mr. Chamberlain mapped out the programme for the remainder of the session. The whole idea of the Government is to avoid, at all costs, an autumn session, and, with this end in view, they propose to allocate the time to be given to the various measures now before Parliament. Acting on the assumption that the House would rise by the end of the third week in August, Mr. Chamberlain made a start to-day by putting the remaining stages of the Key Industries Bill under the guillotine. Eight days, in his opinion, would be ample for all purposes of debate, leaving seven days for Supply, five for the Finance Bill, four for the Railway Bill, four for the Agriculture Bill, four for the Unemployment Insurance Bill, two for the Consolidated Fund Bill, three for the Church of Scotland Bill, and three for the Property Bill. This is taking an extremely optimistic view of the progress of business, and it may well be that the Government will only succeed in proroguing Parliament at the end of August by easing the ship of some of the heavy cargo.

Objections of members of the Opposition were not so much to dispensing with an autumn session as to the waste of time which they considered had been involved by the introduction of unnecessary measures. Sir Donald Maclean declared that the path of the Government was strewn with the wreckage of such Bills. Speaking from another standpoint, Lord Robert Cecil urged that the guillotine was destructive of the reputation of the House as a deliberating assembly.

Mr. Ormsby Gore thought that the real villain of the piece was Mr. Asquith, who, as the creator of the guillotine, deserved to go down to eternal infamy. A large number of amendments have been placed on the paper, but, as Mr. Chamberlain made the offer of another day, and further concessions were considered hopeless, they were not proceeded with, and the main resolution was carried on a division by 186 to 52.

The present week is a crucial one in the industrial world. No fewer than six great wages disputes are now under consideration. The following industries are affected in varying degrees:—Coal, cotton, wool, agriculture, engineering, and the Royal dockyards. In the mining world it is hoped that there will be a considerable majority for resuming work as a result of the ballot, but it is by no means certain. In certain districts the leaders of the miners are taking upon themselves to advise the men to reject the terms, and, if this course of action is persisted in, the situation will again become dangerous. It seems certain that, once work is resumed in the mining world, many thousands of miners will still be without employment. Mr. Vernon Hartshorn is of opinion that in South Wales alone the number will be about 80,000.

The wages of the agricultural labourer are to be reduced, and efforts to secure the reduction will be made almost at once. The Farmers' Union intend to bring forward a proposal before the Agricultural Wages Board next week that there shall be a reduction by amounts varying from 6s. to 10s. a week. This reduction, the Evening Standard is informed, would mean that agricultural labourers would be paid in the region of £2 a week. The wages vary very slightly in different areas, and the lowest wage an agricultural labourer over twenty-one receives at the present time is 46s. For those under twenty-one and for women corresponding decreases are proposed.

Most elaborate preparations have been made to ensure the success of the Ascot Meeting this year, and, if only the weather is kind, there will be a "record" gathering. In spite of the dry weather, it is said that the course is good, though a little rain to-night would be welcome. To-day the Royal gardeners were busy decorating the Royal stand with masses of wonderful blooms. The front of the box is decorated in a scheme of pink, with Clarkia lilies, ivy-leafed geranium, Canterbury bells, and pink spiraea. Inside the box the Queen's private room is also decorated with pink blossoms, while that of the King is done in blue. In addition to the other amenities of the course, there is a special police court, a hospital, and a special stand for Press photographers. Some extra trains are to be run for the meeting, but the great majority of the visitors intend to go by road.

The English Test team, faced with such a heavy deficit in the first innings, gave a better batting display after lunch at Lord's to-day. Knight was caught with only three runs scored, but Dipper and Woolley made a brave stand. Playing carefully and steadily, they brought about several bowling changes, and the total reached 70 without further loss. The outlook, however, is most unfavourable, and it seems that Australia must win the second Test match.

There are at the present moment six vacancies in the representation of Northern Ireland at Westminster. Two of these—in Mid-Down and North Fermanagh—are due to the appointment of Sir James Craig and Mr. Archdale to the posts of Prime Minister and Minister of Agriculture in the new Parliament. A third exists in the Duncairn Division of Belfast, owing to the appointment of Lord Carson to a Lordship of Appeal. The new writ for the filling of this vacancy will be moved on Wednesday.

LIEUTENANT-GENERAL SIR E. P. STRICKLAND, K.C.B.

Last night's London Gazette contains the following announcement:—Memoranda— Major-General to be Temporary Lieutenant-General—Sir E. P. Strickland, K.C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., 1st April, 1921.

A Washington telegram says:—The Commerce Committee of the Senate has decided to report favourably to the Senate on the bill exempting American coasting shipping from payment of Panama Canal tolls.

IMPORTATION OF STORE CATTLE.

EVIDENCE FROM SCOTLAND.

DIVERGENT OPINIONS.

When the Royal Commission on Store Cattle Importation resumed its sittings yesterday the Commission continued the hearing of Scottish evidence. On behalf of the National Farmers' Union of Scotland four witnesses appeared—Messrs. J. Lennox and R. Miller for the removal of the embargo, and Messrs. D. McLaren and W. R. Ross against the removal.

Mr. Lennox said that he thought that the Act of 1896 should be repealed, and the matter of the admission of foreign cattle should be left to the discretion of the Board of Agriculture. The risk of disease by importing Canadian cattle was very small, and some Canadian cattle arrived in better condition than the Irish. The argument about keeping out Canadian cattle because of the fear of disease, if carried to its logical conclusion, would prevent all business enterprise. The arguments used against the removal of the embargo were contradictory. For instance, it was argued that it could but mean cheaper meat, and that it would ruin the breeding industry. They could not have it both ways. The country required more cattle than they could breed, and the introduction of Canadian cattle would meet a demand that could not otherwise be adequately supplied. He did not believe in protection for breeders, and in any case it should not be imposed in the guise of the prevention of a disease. The high price of milk was due to the depreciation in dairy cows, and the removal of the Canadian embargo would have a beneficial and immediate effect in tending to bring about a reduction in the price of milk.

THE SMALL FARMER.

Answering Mr. Carrigan, K.C., the witness said that he did not think that the importation of Canadian cattle would injure the small farmer. Very few cattle were bred in the Highlands, and most of them that were bred were bred by the large farmers. It was an unprofitable business for the small farmers to breed cattle, but the importation of cattle would encourage the small farmer to feed. Such cattle as were produced by the small farmer of the Highlands were not purchased by the arable farmers in the best feeding counties. In regard to the small Highland farmer it was not fair to subsidise one struggling farmer for the sake of another. He was of opinion that this country could absorb 500,000 cattle from Canada, so that it would not be at the expense of displacing the home stores.

Replying to Mr. Evan Charteris, witness said as a breeder and feeder he regarded it as essential for the United Kingdom that there should be an increase in the number of store cattle available. It was also desirable that there should be an alternative supply to the very inadequate Irish supply. About 40 per cent. of the meat consumed in England was in the form of frozen or killed meat, supplied by the meat trusts. The tendency on the part of the British consumer was for home-killed meat, if he could get it. The importation of store cattle would be of benefit to the pedigree breeding, because rejected pedigree cattle had to remain in this country. There was no stock much better in Scotland than the descendants of Canadian cattle. Witness farmed in Redhills, Perthshire.

MR. R. MILLER.

Mr. R. Miller, of Ferryton, Midlothian, favoured the removal of the embargo, and said that the argument of prevention of disease was weak. Canadian cattle landed in Glasgow could be insured against contamination for tubercule for half the premium charged for Irish cattle. If Canada landed store cattle in this country he felt that the trade in pedigree animals would be opened up in Canada. If the interests of the small-holder breeder needed to be protected, why should not the interests of the small-holder who grew grain, etc? Any guarantee to the latter even had been removed. It would be in the interests of the majority of the British public to have the Canadian stores admitted, because there would be a more plentiful supply of home-fed meat put upon the market.

Replying to Mr. Aspinall, witness said that the agitation for the removal of the embargo had been pretty well to the fore for a number of years, to a less or greater extent. Whether it was in the interests of the home farmer or not to encourage him to build up his own supply of herds, the home herds had had ample opportunity of being built up, and it still remained the fact that the supply of store cattle was absolutely inadequate. He was not in a position to say whether the American market affected the regularity of the Canadian supply. He did not think the danger of foot-and-mouth disease coming over the American border into Canada was very great.

SUPPLY OF RAW MATERIAL.

Answering Mr. Carrigan, witness said that the arable farmer was of the opinion that the cattle-rearers had an advantage given to them that was a detriment to the arable farmer. If the embargo were removed the breeder would have an increased supply of the raw material.

In reply to Mr. Evan Charteris, witness said that he was of the opinion that if the embargo were removed the raw material would come into the hands of the farmers much cheaper.

Replying to Sir Harry Peet, witness said he had been told that Canadian store cattle did better in Scotland than the Irish. In many cases Irish cattle would not be reared so hardily in Scotland as Canadian, and from that point of view the Irish were more liable to tuberculosis.

MR. D. M'LAREN.

Mr. D. McLaren, sheep and cattle farmer, and Chairman of the Dunblane Branch of the National Farmers' Union, said that his farm was on the borders of the Lowlands and the Highlands. In the cattle-rearing districts he knew that the feeling was unanimously against the removal of the embargo. The suggestion made that day that the keeping of the embargo on was in the interests of the big farmers was not altogether a fact. In his country the small-holder was vitally interested.

Cross-examined by Mr. Charteris, witness agreed that generally the price of meat affected the price of stores; but the price of chilled meat would never affect the price of home-killed beef.

Asked by Mr. Charteris whether the evil, if it was an evil, in the reduction of the price of stores could be brought about equally by reducing the price of meat as by bringing in cattle from Canada, witness replied that he was depending on the palate of the home consumer. The British consumer had a distinct preference for killed meat.

Mr. W. R. Ross, of Balloch, Culloden, and Mr. J. McNaughton, Aberfeldy, gave similar evidence.

CANADIAN EVIDENCE.

The Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture for the Province of Alberta, Canada, gave evidence. He stated that it was the unanimous opinion of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta, who passed a resolution without a dissenting vote in favour of the removal of the embargo. Alberta cattle-breeders also passed a similar resolution, and requested that he should proceed to Britain in connection with this matter. The Minister reviewed at length the history of the placing of the embargo on Canadian cattle 29 years ago. The embargo had prevented the landing of cattle from Canada into Britain, except for slaughter, under the pretext of disease. The matter was discussed at the Imperial War Conference of 1917, and he (witness) was rather surprised to see that in the evidence before that Commission it was argued that no promise was given to remove the embargo after the war; it was a sort of conditional statement. He submitted that the records of that Conference showed that no promise could be more definite than was given there; yet the undertaking had not been carried out, and it was now a matter of grave public concern, and a failure on the part of British public men to keep faith with Canada.

THE QUESTION OF DISEASE.

Upon the question of disease among Canadian cattle, all he could say was, that of all the millions of cattle sent from Canada to Britain for slaughter which had been examined by British officers not a single case of disease had been found. That was a severe test and one that should satisfy the demands of any country. It had been argued that the American borderland was the source of likely introduction of disease into Canada. Whether it was, or was not, so they had taken protective measures for some thirty years, and had done it effectually. The Prince of Wales, said witness, started a pedigree farm in Alberta last year, and his pedigree cattle came from England while foot-and-mouth disease existed. I saw one of his heifers on his Royal farm that would do credit to its Royal owner, and although it is in a country that has been free from disease for over a quarter of a century, that heifer cannot come over here, even for exhibition. We want to do a larger trade, concluded the Minister, within the Empire, and that is one of the reasons why we ask for the embargo to be removed.

WHY THE EMBARGO WAS PUT ON.

Cross-examined by Mr. Aspinall, the witness said that the embargo was put on because of pleuro-pneumonia, and if pleuro-pneumonia had gone, why should not the embargo? Tuberculosis did not exist to a large extent in Canada. There was no scheduled disease in Canada, and they were very careful about the health of their cattle. If the British Government decided to put a tariff on cattle coming to this country it was none of Canada's business.

Mr. Aspinall—It was the implication of disease that worried Canada.

Witness—It is not the implication that worries us. We do not care what you imply—it is the embargo. There is the strongest kind of feeling all over Canada about this. The Canadian farmers have been unfairly dealt with in a way in which they would not be dealt with by any other country in the world.

Mr. Aspinall—The British farmer has to be considered.

Witness—Well, they can be considered under a fiscal policy in the same way as ours are. You shut out cattle from Ireland when there is disease, but you do not shut them out for twenty-nine years. Why shut us out? If the implication is no longer justified, remove the embargo.

CAPITAL AND LABOUR.

EQUALITY OF OPPORTUNITY

FINANCIER'S ADDRESS TO STUDENTS.

The following has been received from Reuter's Correspondent in Syracuse, New York, dated yesterday:—Addressing the graduates of the Syracuse University to-day, Mr. Gary, Chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, discussed the relations of Capital and Labour. "Capital and Labour," he said, "alike recognise their interdependence. Outsiders often seek to antagonise them. This is especially true of many self-appointed labour union leaders. I insist that the large majority of employers or managers of business are more solicitous for the welfare of the workmen, and do more to promote their comfort and happiness, than outsiders ever have done, or were disposed to do.

"Concerning the suggestion that the workmen have produced the capital whose managers employ them, it appears to me that, assuming that they have received liberally fair compensation for their labour, and have been otherwise properly treated, then the net profits of capital belong to the one who earns or owns the original investment and who devotes his time, talent, thought, energy, and ability, assumes all responsibility and risk, and furnishes money to compensate the workman, who makes no investment except his labour, which is paid for."

INCENTIVE TO AMBITION.

Mr. Gary said that it came down to the point that everybody had an equal opportunity to accumulate capital. Some might have less natural ability or be less economical, but the fact remained that opportunity was equal to all. There were many reasons why the accumulation of capital should be encouraged. "First of all," continued the lecturer, "it is probably the greatest incentive to mental and physical activity, to enterprise and application, to development and discovery. Fundamental to all progress towards the realisation of ambition for success in any department of human endeavour are the necessities of life—food, raiment, and shelter. Unless these are provided, it is useless to moralise or philosophise.

"If every dollar earned was to be forcibly distributed among those who earn nothing, including the unscrupulous and slothful, ambition would slacken and energy weaken. No young man present on this occasion is just to himself unless he believes and, indeed, feels that he knows he can accumulate more or less wealth, and he will not be fair to the community if he does not, so far as honesty and propriety permit, add to his capital for such uses as may be laudable. The material progress and prosperity of any and every country are to an enormous extent the result of large capital. Without these the inhabitants would be neither happy nor comfortable. If we eliminate the banks of deposit, the factories, the stores, the ships, the railroads, and a thousand other things that accumulated capital supports, civilisation itself would be supplanted by tribal conditions, when every tribe and every member would, by the use of force and cunning, strive to secure the necessities of life proffered by nature.

The Lecturer showed to what extent American capital contributed to the successful prosecution of the war. Although many thousands of dollars were subscribed by people of comparatively humble means through the purchase of bonds, the larger sums were provided by the wealthy capitalists. It was fortunate for the American nation, and for the world, as a whole, that America had the required immense capital available.

He pointed out, too, that it was the accumulated capital invested in business enterprises, and the working capital required to maintain and extend them, that enabled millions of people to work for wages which gave them a decent living. Capital created the channels of economic progress. "To the extent a nation is without capital in a corresponding degree are its industries in a state of decay and its people impoverished and despondent."

THE NATIONALISATION OF WEALTH.

The only alternative which had been suggested was that the Government should forcibly take possession and control of all capital, and distribute the income derived from it among the people per capita. That, however, would smother ambition, enervate the body, remove competition for legitimate success in every line of activity, destroy incentive for development and progress, and create a nation of laggards, weaklings, and paupers. Slight motive for succeeding in any natural and honest direction would exist if the final results were to be applied for the equal benefit of others.

Mr. Gary indicated the conditions in Russia in support of his arguments that the nationalisation of capital would eventually ruin the State.

LABOUR'S DISREGARD OF MERIT.

The platform of labour union leaders is the antithesis of the principle of equal opportunity. From the written demands of labour union leaders I quote:—

"Standard scales of wages in all trades and classifications of workers.

"'Principles of seniority to apply in maintenance, reduction, and increase of working force.

"Abolition of company unions.

"Abolition of physical examination of applicants for employment."

These demands, said Mr. Gary, were that Labour leaders should decide what wages should be paid, regardless of the individual's qualifications, industry, record, or disposition, and that in varying the number of employés, making promotions, etc., preference should be given to the workman who had been longest in the employment, without reference to merit or capacity. Further, that all matters between employer and employés should be decided by the labour union leaders. The physical examination of applicants for employment to determine their state of health, which might be harmful to other employés, was to be forbidden.

Employers generally, and also unorganised labour, stood for equal opportunity of reward upon merits. The individual, said the lecturer in conclusion, could only realise the full advantages of his opportunities in the "open shop," as distinguished from the arbitrary control of the trade union leaders. The "open shop" meant freedom for the employé to enter any employment upon terms which he had agreed with the employer; the "closed shop" meant that one could only obtain employment on terms agreed by the labour leader. The employé was restricted in the quantity and quality of his work and in many other respects detrimental to his personal freedom.

FUNERAL OF SIR HENRY BELLINGHAM, BART.

The funeral took place yesterday to Kilsaran, Co. Louth, of Sir Alan Henry Bellingham, Bart., H.M.L. As the late baronet had expressly stipulated, the funeral was of the most simple kind, the coffin being borne to the cemetery on the shoulders of the people of the district. There was a large attendance of clergy, and the people of the district also attended in very large numbers, for the relations between the farmers and the labourers and the members of the Bellingham family have always been most cordial. The little church at Kilsaran was crowded when Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated under the presidency of His Eminence Cardinal Logue. The Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Gaetens, C.C., Togher, with Rev. J. McAleer, P.P., deacon, Rev. J. McDonnell, C.C., Kilsaran, sub-deacon, and the Very Rev. Canon Lyons, P.P., master of ceremonies. Rev. J. McKeone, Adm., Dundalk, and Rev. Father O'Neill, C.C., Haggardstown, were chanters at the Mass, for which special music was sung.

The chief mourners were:—Hon. Lady Bellingham (widow), Colonel and Mrs. E. Bellingham (son and daughter-in-law), Mother Mary Emanuel (Miss Ida Bellingham), Religieuse of Holy Child Order, St. Leonards-on-Sea, and the Marchioness of Bute (daughters); Mrs. Roger Bellingham (daughter-in-law), Mrs. Clayton Bellingham (sister-in-law), Mrs. Arthur and Major Stuart Bellingham (cousins), Lord Colum Crichton Stuart, and Mr. Arthur Macan.

Other relatives unavoidably prevented from being present were:—Mrs. Smythe (sister), Marquis of Bute (son-in-law), Lord Grey de Ruthyn, Right Hon. Frederick Wrench (brothers-in-law), Mrs. Yeats Brown (sister-in-law), Viscount Campden, the Bishop of Meath (nephews).

The Lord Lieutenant was represented by the Right Hon. James MacMahon, Under Secretary for Ireland.

Amongst the clergy in attendance were:—Archdeacon Segrave, P.P., Drogheda; the Very Rev. Canon Donnellan, P.P., Haggardstown; the Very Rev. Canon Fagan, P.P., Kilsaran; Rev. J. Byrne, P.P., Dunleer; Rev. P. Finegan, P.P., Togher; Rev. J. Maguire, P.P., Louth; Rev. Thomas Murray, P.P., Dromiskin; Rev. M. Kerr, C.C., Dundalk; Rev. Father McCann, C.SS.R., Dundalk; Rev. Father O'Sullivan, C.SS.R., do.; Very Rev. Father Flood, O.P., Dundalk; Rev. Father Woodcock, O.C., Omeath; Very Rev. Andrew Macardle, S.J., Gardiner street, Dublin; Very Rev. Father Sherwin, University Church, Dublin; Very Rev. John Woods, P.P., Tallanstown, etc.

Afterwards the remains were conveyed to the cemetery at Kilsaran, and a very large number of people followed the coffin. At the grave the last prayers were recited by His Eminence, the responses being given by the other clergy in attendance.

PREMIER AND WELSH MUSIC.

Making the most of his short period of recuperation at Criccieth, Mr. Lloyd George, shortly after his arrival, took one of his favourite walks to Llanystumdwy. On Sunday, accompanied by Dame Margaret, Miss Megan, and Mr. Richard Lloyd George, the Premier attended the Welsh Evening Service at Berea. Later he listened to the singing by members of the Criccieth Choral Union of Mendelssohn's Oratorio, "St. Paul," a rehearsal for the coming musical festival. The Premier's fondness for old Welsh hymn tunes is well known, and he heartily joined in the singing of several favourites. Addressing the choir before the close, he complimented them on their performance, and remarked that the gathering revived memories of his boyhood days, when he joined in singing at Llanystumdwy. During, and after, the darkest years of the war, he concluded, those incomparable Welsh hymns have been, and still will be, balm to the wounded soul.

REMARKABLE INCREASE IN FIGURES.

A FIVE MONTHS' COMPARISON.

Unemployment in Ireland is becoming more serious than ever. The statistics show a remarkable increase in the numbers out of employment during the last five months. The problem is one that does not affect the cities and larger towns only, for in almost every part of the country the same unfortunate lapse in trade is apparent.

In our issue of the 28th April last we recorded that during the week ending the 15th of that month the number of people registered for employment at the Labour Exchanges and branch offices in Ireland was 116,285, as compared with 113,566 for the previous week. This total of 116,285 was made up as follows:—Men, 79,046; women, 31,809; boys, 2,585; and girls, 2,845. This has now been far exceeded, for there were at the beginning of June no less than 131,368 registered for employment at the various Exchanges and branches throughout the country. This number is classified as follows:—Men, 88,539; women, 37,326; boys, 2,732; girls, 2,771. In addition, there were 53,376 workers employed on short time.

EXODUS OF ARTISANS.

These figures were obtained by an Irish Times representative from an official source, and it was remarked that, while the number of persons registering for employment was still increasing, the rate at which they were increasing had been diminishing within the last few weeks. This applied to both men and women. No particular reason was advanced by our informant as to the cause of the decline; but it was offered as an explanation by other persons that there has been a great exodus of artisans to the other side of the Channel. While this may be so, many unemployed are still in the country, receiving benefits, and the amount paid out weekly in this connection was stated, a very considerable sum.

It is interesting to note that, out of the 131,368 registered for employment, 119,[illegible] are drawing unemployment benefit or donation; the number at the beginning of the year being 62,657 out of 63,245 registered for employment. At that time (in January) there were, in addition, 30,468 people drawing short-time benefit. It should be explained that the people on short time are not included in the number registered for unemployment.

DUBLIN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

INLAND WATER TRANSPORT CHARGES.

The monthly meeting of the Council of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday. The attendance included:—The Right Hon. Andrew Jameson, P.C., D.L., President (in the chair); Messrs. William Hewat, Vice-President; James Shanks, J.P., Deputy Vice-President; John Good, D.L.; Patrick Leonard, J.P.; W. Wallace, J.P.; W. Lombard Murphy, M.D.; the Right Hon. Sir Horace Plunkett, P.C., K.C.V.O., D.L.; S. W. Maddock, D.L., J.P.; J. W. Hill, J.P.; H. J. Millar, E. H. Andrews, D.L.; H. J. Pim, F.C.A.; R. W. Booth, J.P.; Marcus Goodbody, J.P., and Alderman J. Hubbard Clark, J.P., High Sheriff. Apologies for absence were received from—Messrs. W. Findlater, M.A.; G. N. Jacob, J.P.; the Right Hon. Sir W. J. Goulding, Bart., P.C., D.L.; Mr. J. D. Wallis, and Sir J. C. Percy, D.L., J.P.

Votes of condolence were passed with the relatives of the late Mr. M. J. Minch, J.P., a past President of the Chamber, and the late Mr. John Mooney, junior.

SAFEGUARDING OF INDUSTRIES BILL.

The following resolution was adopted:—"That this Committee views with great apprehension the maintenance or extension of Government control of trade and industry, and, therefore, objects strongly to the principle and policy of the Safeguarding of Industries Bill, and recommends that, if key industries require assistance, it should take some other form than that proposed in the bill."

PROPOSED INCREASE IN SHANNON TOLLS.

The following resolution was also passed:—"That this Council, having heard that the Board of Works has made an application to the Ministry of Transport for authority to increase the tolls chargeable on the Shannon navigation by 150 per cent., views with alarm the possibility of the Grand Canal Company withdrawing their services, which, up to now, have proved so beneficial to this country, or, in the alternative, increasing their rates of freight by further sums to meet the proposed increase in tolls. This Council cannot too strongly emphasise the importance of this waterway to the trade of the city, and also to the general welfare of the country as a means of transport, and protests against any serious additional charge by the Government which should militate against its usefulness or perhaps necessitate the closing down of a service the full maintenance of which is of particular importance at the present time. This Council appeals to the Rates Advisory Committee of the Ministry not to take any steps which might result in a withdrawal of the Grand Canal Company's trade on the Shannon, which would have a serious restrictive effect on the trade of the country."

POST OFFICE MANAGEMENT.

The Council approved of the proposal of the Postmaster-General to appoint a Council of business men to advise and assist in the economic management of the Post Office, and it was decided to urge that the Council include at least one Irish representative.

A vacancy on the Council was filled by the co-option of Mr. Lawrence W. Martin.

DISPUTED SHIPMENT OF BARLEY.

THE APPEAL DISMISSED.

The House of Lords yesterday dismissed the appeal of William McEvoy, Ltd., corn merchants, Mountmellick, Queen's County, and Dublin, in the action brought against them by James Calder and Co., Ltd., distillers, Edinburgh, to recover £239 for alleged shortage in delivery of barley. The appellant loaded a cargo of barley on the steamship Ardchattan, which, they said, was ascertained by the method which has prevailed at Dublin and elsewhere for many years to amount to 266 tons. On its arrival at Glasgow the respondent said that the cargo was thirteen tons short, and they contended that the system of discharging, weighing, and dealing with cargo at Glasgow made it impossible to suggest that any mistake had arisen in Scotland.

The action was tried twice in Ireland. At the first trial judgment was entered for the Edinburgh firm, but the King's Bench Division directed a new trial. In the second action the Irish firm obtained judgment, but the King's Bench Division, being equally divided, made "no rule." The Irish Court of Appeal ordered judgment for the Edinburgh firm, and William McEvoy, Ltd., now appealed to the House of Lords.

Mr. T. M. Healy, K.C., and Mr. W. G. Gibson, K.C. (instructed by Mr. Herbert F. Deane, Westminster, agent for Mr. William J. Clark, Mountmellick) appeared for the appellants. Serjeant A. M. Sullivan and Mr. W. A. Jowitt (instructed by Messrs. Coward and Hawksley, Son, and Chance, Mincing Lane, agent for Casey, Clay, and Collins, Dublin) represented the respondent.

Viscount Cave, in moving that the appeal should be dismissed, said that it was clear beyond question that the method of weighing at Glasgow was the more reliable. At Glasgow every sack of barley was weighed at the time of discharging, and any discrepancy was set right at once. At Dublin only one sack in ten was weighed, and no attempt was made to adjust the weights. Even as to the one in ten, the proof was incomplete, for some of the sacks had been lying for months in the store, and as to these sacks, there was no first-hand evidence of their having been weighed at all. In short, the former method was exact, the latter approximate. No dishonesty or loss in transit being suggested, he failed to see how any jury could reasonably prefer the latter to the former. Upon the evidence, he thought it clear that the verdict was one which a jury, viewing the whole of the evidence reasonably, could not properly find, and accordingly that the Court of Appeal was right in holding that the verdict could not stand. He did not think that the Court of Appeal in directing judgment to be entered usurped the function of a jury.

Lords Atkinson and Sumner concurred.

Viscount Finlay and Lord Phillimore dissented, holding that the case was one in which there was evidence both ways, and that in such cases it was not for the Court to take upon itself the functions of a jury, and decide whether the evidence of the plaintiffs should be accepted in preference to that for the defendants.

The appeal was dismissed.

ATTACKS ON EX-SOLDIERS.

A correspondent writes to us warning ex-soldiers against attacks by armed men, who destroy their ring papers, or discharge papers. He advises ex-soldiers not to carry such papers with them. He states that on Sunday afternoon three civilians followed an ex-soldier who was walking with a girl friend along the Grand Canal, produced a revolver, robbed him of his papers, and threw them into the Canal. This done, they told him to "run for it." They fired at him as he ran, one shot being embedded in a tree. Afterwards the ex-soldier returned with some male companions to find his friend "exhausted and terrified." The armed men had seized and plunged her into the Canal, leaving her afterwards to get home as best she could.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

TRANSFIGURATION.

The Times, in a leading article upon the subject of the conference at Wiesbaden between Dr. Rathenau, German Minister of Reconstruction, and M. Loucheur, French Minister for the Liberated Regions, on the question of allowing Germany to participate directly in the restoration of the French departments laid waste by her troops during the war, observes:—If the Germans really desire to make reparation for the evil work they did in France, it is clearly advantageous that, within limits prescribed by the welfare of the people they wronged, they should be allowed to make it. But we imagine that discussions between the French and German Ministers will not have been confined to the technical aspects of reparation. Dr. Rathenau is by no means an ordinary business man and still less an ordinary Minister. True, he has been associated with and has, in reality, been the soul of some of the largest German industrial undertakings, but he considers himself as much a seer and leader of thought as a leader in organisation and business enterprise. Those in this country who know something of Germany are under no illusions as to the various and attractive disguises that the "German soul" is capable of donning. Nevertheless, they believe, with The Times, that the restoration and reconstruction of Europe cannot be fully accomplished without German co-operation and goodwill. They hold also that the path to such co-operation must lie through a change of heart in Germany, and that the first sign of such a change must be practical proof that Germany is eager to make good, as far as it lies in her power to do so, some of the evil she has wrought. When that proof has been given—and in proportion as it is given—Germany will find France and England ready to resume normal intercourse with her, though decades may pass before wounds are fully healed and distrust gives place to confidence—the "transfiguration" of mankind may come. It will come all the sooner when it is clear that Germany has repented of her misdeeds, not merely because they failed to bring her profit, but because they were, of their nature, crimes against humanity.

THE THIMBLE AND THE PEA.

Early last month the Government presented Parliament with the completed Army Estimates for the year 1921-22. The net total of their demand was £106,315,000, and the taxpayer naturally asked why, in the third year after the war, he should be required to find nearly [illegible] times the pre-war expenditure, observes The Times editorially. Upon this point Mr. Churchill may have something to say this afternoon. But, in the meantime, the Government [illegible] upon the device of reducing the Army Estimates by charging military expenditure in the Middle East to the Middle East Department of the Colonial Office. This they seem to have thought would look better. Consequently they drew up a revised estimate, which was published yesterday. In it the huge figure of £106,315,000 for the Army Estimates shrinks to £82,094,000, but only because the supplementary estimate for Middle Eastern Services will provide for repayment by the Colonial Office to the War Office of £24,221,000. Together the two new estimates are exactly equal to the old total. The arithmetic is unexceptionable, but the transaction is little more than a "face saving" piece of book-keeping. Upon several occasions we have protested strongly against this attempt to disguise our true military expenditure.

BETTER DAYS FOR TRADE.

The dark mists which have be-clouded the economic horizon since November last are beginning to lift, says The Times, and, provided a settlement of the coal dispute is arrived at this week, and that the settlement will furnish the factories of this country with cheap fuel which will enable our manufacturers and work-people to compete successfully with foreign manufacturers and their work-people, a great step forward will have been taken to bring nearer the prospect of better trade. We published in our City column some days ago a review of trade and industrial prospects, as seen by a number of gentlemen who were recognised experts in their respective callings. All these reported that cheap coal was absolutely necessary to the industries of this country, especially to the iron and steel trades and other "heavy" industries. But though cheap coal has always been, and must remain, a fundamental condition of the economy of these islands, the expectation of cheap coal is not the only justification for the view that better trade and more employment are in store for the country.

A FIVE MONTHS' DROUGHT.

The Meteorological Correspondent of The Times writes:—In spite of the threatening appearance of the sky, there were again only a few trifling showers in the South of England yesterday, most districts escaping altogether. The prolonged drought, which set in at the end of January, is now beginning to assume very serious proportions, and unless the much-needed downpour occurs within the next week or two the consequences will, it is feared, be disastrous.

OTHER MORNING PAPERS.

"IRISH CHAOS."

"Irish Chaos" is the title of an article from an Irish Correspondent of the Morning Post. He writes:—To anyone who reads the Irish papers every day, knows the things that are being done in Ireland, and breathes its tainted atmosphere, recent discussions in the House of Commons on Irish affairs, and particularly Sir Hamar Greenwood's contribution to them, read like the maunderings of imbeciles. Do the experts of this monkey-chatter, and not the hard facts of the case, really control the Government's efforts to cope with the Irish situation? It looks intolerably like it. And Irish separation requires no better advertisement than this that it is receiving at the hands of Mr. Lloyd George and his colleagues, whose every action and every decision are an admission that no British Government is capable of facing the Irish question on its merits or taking Irish facts in the face.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

In a leading article, the Morning Post observes:—We cannot pretend that the Imperial Conference has met at a happy time for the British people. The plain truth is that the British Empire only narrowly escaped destruction in the war, and still suffers terribly from the effects of the mauling it then received. In its weakened and exhausted state it is at present the prey of a multitude of enemies. We are united by a common necessity of existence. There is need for a great reformation if the British Empire is to survive. And here, as elsewhere, let our statesmen remember that what threatens one threatens all.

ADMIRAL SIMS.

The Morning Post says:—We hope that Rear-Admiral William S. Sims, of the United States Navy, who, it is understood, is leaving this country to-morrow, will take away with him pleasant memories of his visit, as he will be followed by the most cordial good wishes of the British people. When Admiral Sims says that the Sinn Fein are "trying to break good relations between the two nations which had been established while they were co-operating at sea," naturally the American Sinn Feiners do not like it. We believe that the great mass of Americans, like the people of this country, are heartily resolved upon the maintenance and confirmation of the friendship between the two nations.

THE NEW POSTAL ARRANGEMENTS.

NO SORTING ON SUNDAYS.

Colonel Sir Arthur Holbrook asked the Postmaster-General in the House of Commons whether the new week-end postal arrangements would interfere with letters posted on Saturday being obtainable on demand at provincial head post offices on Sunday; whether the special Sunday collection of letters with late fee at certain London post offices for delivery in the country by the first post on Monday will be discontinued, and whether he was aware that if these facilities are discontinued it will involve a serious increase in postal telegraphic work on Sunday.

Mr. Pike Pease, who replied, writes that he regrets it will not be practicable to provide a delivery to callers on Sundays, inasmuch as in many cases the mails will not be conveyed to the local offices, and if conveyed there will not be opened or sorted. The special Sunday collections from certain offices in London, of which very little use is made, have also been discontinued. In order to meet urgent requirements special arrangements have been made for the acceptance on Sundays of express letters between certain offices in London and some of the largest provincial towns. He doubted if there would be any material increase in telegraphic work on Sundays.

NAVAL APPOINTMENT.

Rear-Admiral Maurice Swynfen Fitzmaurice has been appointed Director of the Naval Intelligence Division, Admiralty Naval Staff, in succession to Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Sinclair, to date August 15th next.

THE NEAR EAST.

GREEK KING AT SMYRNA.

ANGORA'S ATTITUDE TO THE ALLIES.

An Athens telegram, dated yesterday, says:—King Constantine arrived at Smyrna yesterday, and was greeted with enthusiastic cheers by the population, including the Armenians and Jews. The streets of the city were hung with flags, and portraits of the King were in great evidence. The town was illuminated during the evening, and the festivities were kept up till a late hour. The Greek prelates, who are holding a Synod at Adrianople, and the Metropolitan of Smyrna, have sent their blessings to the King, who, they say, is again drawing together the threads of history cut on the 29th May, 1453, the date of the fall of Constantinople.

"CERTAIN OF VICTORY."

A Constantinople telegram, dated yesterday, says:—Bekir Sami Bey, who was head of the Turkish Nationalist Delegation to London, in an interview in Rhodes, which he passed through on his way to Rome and Paris, declared that the Angora Government desired to conclude a sincere agreement with the Allied Powers, while safeguarding Turkish national claims. The Angora Government, the members of which were firm partisans of the policy of moderation, regarded with aversion all policies of adventure. "Our army is strong," he said, "and awaits with confidence the attack of the Greek Army, certain of ultimate victory. We hope that Great Britain will maintain her neutrality in the present conflict."

COAL SITUATION.

MINERS AND THE BALLOT.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE'S PROTEST.

The Executive of the Scottish Mine Workers at Glasgow yesterday declined to make a recommendation regarding the ballot to the National Delegate Conference, which met afterwards.

The National Conference of Scottish Miners yesterday, after two hours' discussion, declined to make any recommendation to the men, who are to ballot to-day.

The Northumberland Miners' Council also decided to leave the lodges free and unfettered.

The Yorkshire Miners' Council have made no recommendation regarding the owners' offer on which a ballot will be taken on Wednesday.

Several works in the Swansea area commenced overhauling their plant yesterday in anticipation that the coal ballot will result in the resumption of work.

The Nottingham Miners' Council yesterday made arrangements for the ballot. Some leaders still doubt the wisdom of relinquishing the pool.

The Lancashire and Cheshire Miners' Federation Special Delegate Conference yesterday unanimously decided to recommend the members to vote against acceptance of the new terms.

In Cannock Chase coalfields, and in North Staffordshire, the ballot is expected to be in favour of returning to work. In both cases the miners' leaders have decided to make no recommendation.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE'S STRONG PROTEST.

The Nottinghamshire Miners' Council yesterday decided to refrain from making any recommendation regarding the ballot on Wednesday. In consequence of the exhaustion of funds, and the Association's heavy indebtedness, it was unable to make any recommendation regarding further allowances. The fact that no help will be available this week is regarded as likely to have a marked influence on the voting.

At the assembly of the Moor Green miners subsequently, Mr. Joseph Birkin, J.P., their delegate to the Council, declared that there had been unnecessary delay in reaching a settlement, through insistence on the pool, which had been a political move from the first. He said that he thanked God that extremists, who thought that they were going to Russianise the country, had failed. He contended that there was no need for a ballot, and asked why the leaders were not honourable enough to come out, admitting that they had been defeated. On the speaker's suggestion, the Moor Green miners refused to participate in the ballot, and decided to send back the papers with the explanation that they were ten weeks too late. They also appointed a deputation to ask the manager of the Eastwood Collieries to open the pits for work next Monday.

At another meeting of Nottinghamshire miners at Mansfield yesterday afternoon, when Mr. W. Carter, M.P., was present, a resolution was passed regretting that nothing tangible had been gained by ten weeks' arduous strike, and that the proposals had to be referred to the men by ballot at a time when their stomachs were empty. The resolution went on to declare that the machine of the Miners' Federation had clashed up against a stronger and better organisation—the Federation of British Industries, and the Government; and the futility of trades unionism, as at present constituted, demanded that a general review of the constitution of their own organisation and the Miners' Federation be immediately gone into.

THE RAILWAYS AND THE COAL STRIKE.

In the House of Commons yesterday,

Sir Douglas Hall asked what was the estimated loss to the railways due to the coal strike, and how the loss would be met.

Sir Eric Geddes said that the claims against the Government shown in the accounts presented by the British railways from March amounted to nearly £3,500,000, and for April to over £9,500,000. No later figures were available. The loss would fall on the general taxpayer, and a supplementary estimate would be presented to Parliament.

IMPORTED COAL.

Mr. Bridgman, replying to Mr. William Thorne in the Commons yesterday, said that the quantity of foreign coal imported during May was 450,162 tons. The average declared value per ton was 68s. 2d. The selling price to buyers could not be stated, as it would include many items of which no returns were made. He did not propose to take any action in the matter of testing this coal, which was of widely differing qualities. He presumed that intending buyers satisfied themselves as to its suitability for their requirements.

PROBLEMS OF EMPIRE.

SIR ABE BAILEY'S VIEWS.

Among the passengers from South Africa by the Arundel Castle, which reached England on Saturday, was Sir Abe Bailey. In an interview with Reuter's representative, Sir Abe made some interesting comments on the position of affairs in South Africa.

He declared that the Union Government was firmer to-day than ever, through recognising, as it had done, that the interest of the nation was above that of groups and classes. "General Smuts," he continued, "has aroused national energies, and is determined to raise all to a higher level. Responding to the call of a great opportunity, we are marching to higher and greater destinies. The Nationalists will, I feel sure, assist, and there is already a better feeling. They are not nursing their grievances as they did, and are now beginning to enjoy the achievements of their own people. The Nationalists have not that desire to separate from the British Empire that they had. They perceive that they can get what they wish within the British Empire just as well as if they were out of it."

Dealing with Imperial affairs, Sir Abe Bailey said:—The British Empire will be held together so long, and no longer, as there is a strong and powerful United Kingdom. It is old England and the British that will keep it together, and when we arrive here expecting to find a pall lying over the country through industrial revolution and the Irish rebellion, we find front pages of the newspapers taken up with cricket, golf, polo test matches, and one has to search for news of the coal strike and Irish rebellion.

One wonders what the end will be, and can only come to the conclusion that neither the general public nor the miners realise the seriousness of the economic position in England, and how close we are to the breaking up of the British Empire. They cannot realise that Japan, Germany, Belgium, and America are capturing the markets of the world. These countries are bulging with South African trade as never before, and much as we would like to give a preference to British manufacturers, the nation that, in the long run, supplies the cheapest article secures the trade. Is the old British bulldog spirit, like that of the Boers after the Boer war, going to face the position and pull England round? Great Britain is carrying a heavy burden in taxation, caused by the war; the Dominions cannot be mere spectators and enjoy the benefits of protection without subscribing to the cost of the Navy, which was the defence of the Empire.

Referring to the Anglo-Japanese agreement, Sir Abe declared that the feeling of the majority in South Africa was against the alliance, and if any trouble arose between Japan and the United States, South Africa to a man would be on the side of America.

Commenting on the relations between Great Britain and France, he said that, whilst recognising that the frontiers of France and Belgium were Great Britain's frontier, there was a feeling in South Africa that France took advantage of this fact by dragging the British along the path of blind hatred, revenge, and fear of Germany, and, like the blind Samson of old, would bring Western civilisation down with a crash, not only upon themselves, but upon the rest of the world, too.

"South Africa," said Sir Abe in conclusion, "with its climate and great possibilities, is screaming for settlers, and anyone with a little money, pluck, and staying powers may do worse than give it a trial."

PARLIAMENT.

THE INDUSTRIES BILL.

STRONG OPPOSITION TO THE MEASURE.

THE QUESTION OF AN AUTUMN SESSION.

In the House of Commons yesterday,

Mr. Chamberlain, in moving the guillotine resolution allotting five days for the Committee stage of the Safeguarding of Industries Bill, two days to the report stage, and one day for the third reading, said that the justification for the motion was of two kinds. It rested on Parliamentary practice and precedent, and also on the special circumstances of this particular bill. They had to consider the time that they had at their disposal. Hon. members who challenged him would be the first to be disappointed if there were an autumn session. The Government thought that it was a matter of public policy to avoid an autumn session, if they could do so. Constant autumn sessions were neither good for the House nor for the legislative and administrative business of the country. The House and the Government had been overburdened, and legislation had not been prepared with the care and attention which was customary in more leisurely times. Between now and August 12—though he had not the slightest anticipation that they would be able in any circumstances to rise on August 12—there were forty-five Parliamentary days. Supply required seven days, the Finance Bill five days, the Railway Bill four days, the Agriculture Bill four days, the Unemployment Insurance Bill four days, eight days for the Safeguarding of Industries Bill, two days for the Consolidated Fund Bill, three days each for the Church of Scotland Bill and Law of Property Bill. Then they had to consider a possible License Bill, which would only be possible if a large measure of agreement were reached at the conference of the parties interested, and a Criminal Law Amendment Bill, to which much importance was attached by women's associations. If they were to rise by the end of the third week in August they must husband the time at their disposal. This was only an estimate, and not an attempt to lay down a definite programme. He quoted Mr. Asquith as saying that a time-table on important bills must be a necessary part of future Parliamentary procedure, and regretted that the right hon. gentleman was not present to support him.

SIR DONALD MACLEAN.

Sir Donald Maclean pointed out that since Mr. Asquith made that statement Parliamentary procedure had been reformed, and many important bills were now sent to Grand Committee. Personally he should be glad if there were no autumn session. The House was very tired and overworked, but, if their duties necessitated it, as he thought they did, in regard to this bill, then they ought to have an autumn session. The Government had wasted time over unnecessary measures, such as the German Reparations Act, than which no more ridiculous measure had ever been put on the Statute Book. They would have done better if they had come to the House and said that, owing to the pressure of time, they would drop this present measure. That was the way to clear the decks, and save an autumn session. It was a bill which required the most careful and meticulous consideration. It was entirely the fault of the Government that the House was in that position. There had been less obstruction in the last three sessions than in any other session of modern Parliaments.

MR. CLYNES.

Mr. Clynes said that he agreed with Sir Donald Maclean that the Government ought to drop the bill. There was no national demand for it, and it was the most controversial measure of the session. An adjournment from the middle of August until next year was too long in the present economic and industrial situation. Unless the existing serious difficulties were overcome there would be need for Parliamentary action and Parliamentary decisions during that long period.

LORD ROBERT CECIL.

Lord Robert Cecil said that the bill was partly futile and partly pernicious. The debate of this, or any, bill under the guillotine was the most unsatisfactory form of debate. Under the guillotine the whole of the weapons of the Opposition were struck down. It destroyed the House as a deliberative assembly. He would rather face an autumn session than have a guillotine resolution passed, which would really mean the destruction of the old system of debate. He believed that an autumn session would prove inevitable, whether the Government wanted it or not.

Mr. W. Graham said that the representative principle was in considerable danger in this country, and the Government should give the representative principle a fair chance in debate in the House.

Mr. Ormsby Gore said that he hoped that the Government would try to come to some arrangement with the Liberal Opposition, who were the real cause of the resolutions. Such a resolution formed a most dangerous precedent. They were giving an amount of time to the bill which its importance did not merit. Mr. Asquith had done more than anyone else to bring the guillotine into use, and he would go down to eternal infamy for the part that he had played in this behalf. (Laughter and hear hear.)

Mr. T. P. O'Connor reminded the last speaker that guillotine resolutions were in operation long before Mr. Asquith had recourse to them. Mr. Gladstone used the guillotine to pass the Home Rule Bill of 1893. He thought that the proposals of the Government were a great mistake.

Mr. Marriott said that he greatly regretted the resolution. A guillotine resolution was destructive of debate, which was the life blood of the House of Commons. This was a critical moment in the history of Parliamentary institutions. He suggested that the Government should fall back upon the mutual arrangement that was come to in connection with the recent Government of Ireland Bill.

Captain W. Benn said that he considered that such a resolution had a damaging effect on the prestige of the House of Commons, especially at a time like the present. Legislation produced under such conditions was not worth having.

AN AMENDMENT.

Captain Stanley Wilson and Col. Wedgwood continued the discussion.

Mr. Hogge moved, and Sir Donald Maclean supported, an amendment exempting the Committee stage of the bill from the guillotine.

Mr. Chamberlain resisted the amendment, and it was defeated by 219 to 59.

Mr. Hogge moved that ten days be given to the Committee stage instead of five.

Mr. Chamberlain offered to give six days to Committee if the Opposition would agree not to sit late, and give him the rest of the resolution.

Sir Donald Maclean declined the offer.

The amendment was defeated by 215 to 51.

Sir Donald Maclean said that after the decision that the House had come to, and failing an agreement, he and his colleagues had come to the conclusion that they would best serve the interests of the business by not moving any more amendments. They would content themselves with making their protest in the Division Lobby on the resolution as a whole.

The resolution was put and carried by 186 to 62.

POLICE PENSIONS.

On the order for the third reading of the Police Pensions Bill,

Mr. Shortt undertook that facilities would be given for the moving of certain amendments when the bill went to the House of Lords.

The bill was read a third time.

The Dentists Bill passed the report stage, and was read a third time, a motion by Colonel Wedgwood for the rejection being negatived without a division.

THE NEAR EAST.

On the motion for the adjournment, Mr. Cecil Harmsworth, replying to Lieut.-Commander Kenworthy, Colonel Wedgwood, and others, said that undoubtedly the situation as between the Greeks and the Kemalists was one that could not derive any advantage at present from a discussion in the House or in any other assembly of the Allied and friendly nations. The subject had engaged the most earnest and anxious attention of the Foreign Office and of the Government for a long time past. It must be obvious that the Treaty of Sèvres was in jeopardy in consequence of affairs in the Near East. The situation was unquestionably full of menace. It was a mistake to suggest that there had been covert support given from this country to either one side or the other.

NEW WRIT FOR NORTH DOWN.

On the motion of Colonel Leslie Wilson, a new writ was ordered to be issued for the election of a member for North Down in the room of Mr. T. W. Brown, K.C., who had accepted the office of Solicitor-General for Ireland.

THE PRICE OF WHEAT.

Sir A. Griffith Boscawen, answering Mr. Forrest, said that Part 1 of the Agriculture Act did not affect in any way the price of wheat which was governed by the world's supply and demand. Its repeal, therefore, would not affect the price of bread.

THE POSITION OF THE HOSPITALS.

Sir Alfred Mond told Colonel Mildmay that he hoped to make a statement in the course of the next few days on Lord Cave's report in reference to the financial position of the hospitals.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

Mr. Chamberlain informed Mr. Ormsby Gore that next Friday would be allocated to the discussion of the agenda of the Imperial Conference. The Conference itself would be postponed till next week, as the Prime Minister had been forbidden by his medical adviser to resume his public work in London this week.

GOVERNMENT EXPENDITURE.

Mr. Esmond Harmsworth asked the Prime Minister what steps the Government intended to take to carry into effect the demand of the people of the country, as expressed in the St. George's Division of Westminster, for an immediate reduction in Government expenditure, and whether the Government would take steps to effect economies now instead of waiting until next year, as was foreshadowed by the Treasury Circular.

Mr. Chamberlain—My hon. friend is mistaken in believing that economies are being postponed until next year. If he will look again at the Treasury Circular he will see that it states expressly that it is very desirable that economies should be brought into operation this year.

Mr. Harmsworth—Is it intended to make any definite cuts in this year's Estimates?

Mr. Chamberlain—Yes, all that can be made without detriment to the public service.

The House rose at 10.30.

THE MOUNT EVEREST EXPEDITION.

FIRST STAGE OF THE JOURNEY.

WONDERS OF CLIME AND COLOUR.

THE RHODODENDRONS' GLORY.

SOME TRANSPORT DIFFICULTIES.

(TIMES TELEGRAM PER PRESS ASSOCIATION.)
(COPYRIGHT.)

The Times of to-day publishes the following:—

(WORLD'S COPYRIGHT, AND SUPPLIED BY THE MOUNT EVEREST COMMITTEE.)
(FROM COLONEL HOWARD BURY.)
HEADQUARTERS, MOUNT EVEREST EXPEDITION,
via SIMLA, JUNE 7.

The crossing of Sikkim—the first march of the Everest Expedition from Darjeeling—was to Pashoke, 17 miles, all downhill. The path first went through thick oak forests, each tree being covered over with mosses and ferns, owing to the extreme dampness of the climate. Next the path wound down a great spur, dotted over with tea plantations, the tea having a neat, vivid green appearance at this time of the year, with here and there a great tree fern towering up, its stem covered with ferns and orchids. The wealth of vegetation was wonderful, and many coloured butterflies, for which the Teesta Valley is famous, flitted across the path in front of us.

AN ENTRANCING SPECTACLE.

It proved an entrancing spectacle. Deep down below in the steamy gorge flowed the muddy Teesta River, which we crossed the following day, having descended over 6,000 feet from Darjeeling. Then followed a hot climb of 3,000 and more feet to Kalimpong, through more forests, with great red rhododendrons showing patches of scarlet here and there, amid the dense green foliage. Every now and then a louder rustle among the branches betokened the presence of a monkey, eyeing with suspicion the passing traveller. Higher up were many terraces of rice, and a newly-sown field of maize. We dined that night with Dr. Graham, whose homes and schools at Kalimpong are famous over all India, and where he and his late wife have done wonderful work. We were unfortunate in the weather. We caught the beginning of the Monsoon, and it scarcely stopped raining during the whole time we were crossing Sikkim. A couple of minutes in these deluges are sufficient to penetrate any waterproof. The next day's march to Pedong was over flatter ground. There was only one climb, 3,000 feet, and a descent of 2,000 feet. By the roadside were most marvellous hedges of daturas, 15 to 20 feet high, and covered with hundreds of enormous white trumpet-shaped blooms, each 8 inches in diameter, and fully 12 inches in length. I could only stand and admire their wonderful beauty; their equal I have never seen anywhere else. At night they seemed to gleam with a kind of phosphorescence, emitting a strangely sweet scent.

THE MULES GIVE TROUBLE.

Our Government mules were now beginning to give trouble. They were fat and sleek on arrival at Darjeeling, but they had been doing little or no hard work in the plains, except for a few days beforehand. This was not nearly long enough, and when it came to ascending and descending the Sikkim marches they began to collapse completely. After every day's march each party had to leave three mules behind, which were quite unable to proceed the next morning, even loadless. The fourth march from Pedong to Rongli, though only twelve miles, is especially trying. The path dropped steeply down nearly 3,000 feet, only to climb up another 3,000 feet in the next few miles, followed by another steep drop of 2,000 feet. This was across one of the most fertile valleys of Sikkim, terraced from top to bottom with the greatest skill and labour. Here the inhabitants grew rice on the lower, and maize on the higher, slopes. Picturesque houses were dotted about the hillsides. The people appear very fond of flowers, wearing them in their hats, while every house is surrounded by bowers—a very pleasing trait in their character. On this march one mule died, and vultures were not long in putting in an appearance. The other mules were in the most tired condition, and we were compelled to halt a day at Rongli, a beautiful, but feverish, spot, with wonderful sprays of sweet-scented white orchids hanging from the trees.

PONIES TO THE RESCUE.

Even after a day's rest we had to hire twenty-two ponies to supplement the Government mules. The mules, though many, were carrying no loads at all, barely reached camp at Sedonchen, a climb of 4,500 feet. The following day the Government mules would have been unable to proceed, so we were forced to hire local mules and ponies, leaving the Government mules behind. Sergeant Fowkes and his men had done everything they possibly could to get the mules along, but without success. It is a terrible breakdown of transport, at the very beginning of the expedition, and after going only five marches, but it is solely due to the fact that the mules were out of condition for any hard work, and are totally unfitted, without at least a month's previous training, to ascend and descend the steep hill marches.

A WONDERFUL BEAST.

Being on the main trade route, we were luckily able to get other transport to replace them. I have arranged for transport as far as Khampa Dzong. The local animal is a wonderful beast, extremely sure-footed, and not minding in the least a climb of 6,000 feet on a path which is really only a stone causeway, most slippery and unpleasant either to walk or to ride upon. Probably anything else would be washed away by the torrential rains that fall here. At one place we had to make a wide detour, as rain overnight had washed away some hundreds of yards of the pathway. Luckily this was not at the most precipitous part, otherwise we might have been delayed several days.

LEECHES ON THE STONES.

Near Sedonchen constant rain had brought out leeches. These sat upon every stone, waving at the passers-by. Drops of blood on the stones became frequent from bleeding wounds left by the leeches on the mules. The climb from Sedonchen to Gnatong was the steepest we had had, with a rise of over 5,000 feet in 8½ miles.

A RIOT OF COLOUR.

We soon got out of the zone of leeches into a most wonderful zone of towering rhododendrons. Those at the lower heights had already flowered, but those between 10,000 and 12,000 feet were a marvellous sight. Orange and red rhododendrons—Cinnabarinum—came first, then pink, deep crimson, yellow, mauve, white, and cream-coloured rhododendrons appeared in turn, until the whole hillside was a blaze of colour. It is impossible to imagine anything more beautiful. We were delighted at every yard of the road. Deep purple and red primula covered all the open spaces, growing in the greatest profusion. Though snow had only gone a month, flowers of all kinds were beginning to emerge.

A RAINY VILLAGE.

On May 24 we reached the village of Gnatong, at an altitude of over 12,000 feet. Gnatong, a dirty, muddy village, lying in a hollow, with an annual rainfall of little under 200 inches, certainly lived up to its reputation, as it poured all the time we were there. The village gains a livelihood by the fact that it is the first halting place on this side of Jelepla. A constant stream of mule and pony caravans passes to and from Tibet every day. We passed hundreds of mules laden with bales of wool coming from Tibet, and often on the narrow path it was difficult to pass, as the mules insisted on taking up most of the room, and the bales on either side were very bulky.

We shall not be sorry to reach Tibet, for although Sikkim is a very beautiful country, with the most wonderful variety of vegetation, yet the constant clouds and heavy rainfall at this time of the year prevent our fully enjoying the beauties of the scenery.

MR. HARVEY'S SPEECH TO THE PILGRIMS.

AMERICAN SENATOR'S CONCERN.

Reuter's Washington Correspondent telegraphed yesterday:—Senator Harrison to-day introduced a resolution in the Senate requesting President Harding to inform that body whether there was not as much reason and justification for a reprimand or the recall of Mr. Harvey, American Ambassador in Great Britain, for his speech to the Pilgrims in London, as for a reprimand or the recall of Admiral Sims. The resolution also asks whether the Secretary of State or President Harding have received any communication from Mr. Harvey in answer to any request or protest from either the President or the Secretary of State, and, if so, whether it is to be transmitted to the Senate.

COASTGUARD STATION ATTACKED.

FIGHT IN COUNTY DONEGAL.

ONE NAVAL MAN KILLED.

Our Donegal Correspondent telegraphed last night:—A report reached Donegal to-day that about one hundred armed men attacked Teelin Coastguard Station in the early hours of Sunday morning.

After a stubborn resistance by the Coastguard, the attackers were beaten off. It is not known if there were any casualties among them.

One coastguard was killed.

TWO STATIONS BURNED.

Our Clonakilty Correspondent states that at an early hour on Friday morning the Coastguard Station at Ring, about two miles east of Clonakilty, was burned. The block comprised four substantial houses. Two were occupied by the Coastguard, the two other by ex-naval men and their families. The armed men helped in removing the furniture, and then set fire to the houses. At about the same time a similar fate befell the Coastguard Station at Durk, comprising seven substantial houses.

COASTGUARDS KIDNAPPED.

Howel Strand Coastguard Station, County Cork, has been destroyed by fire by a number of unknown men, who kidnapped the three coastguard occupants of the station, and they have not been heard of since.

ARMAGH MAN SHOT DEAD.

KILLED IN PRESENCE OF HIS WIFE.

Dublin Castle reports that at 4 o'clock yesterday morning John Cosgrove was shot dead outside his house at Ashway, Camlough, County Armagh, by three armed men.

Our Newry Correspondent telegraphed last night:—Early this morning John Cosgrove, a farmer residing at Eshwary, near Camlough, was taken from his home and shot dead under circumstances of heartless cruelty. Mr. Cosgrove, who was aged 30 years, was brought out at 4 a.m. by armed men, who shot him in the arm as he attempted to escape. He succeeded in regaining the shelter of his home, where his wife endeavoured to save him, shielding him with her body. He was, however, dragged outside again and killed with several bullets, despite the frantic appeals of his wife, who was told to bid him her last good-bye.

DRILLING PARTY SURPRISED.

TEN ARRESTS IN COUNTY DUBLIN.

General Military Headquarters states that a patrol of the Auxiliary Division, operating in the vicinity of Kimmage, County Dublin, on Sunday night, encountered, shortly after Curfew hour, a group of young men, who were drilling. The men were called on to halt, but took to flight. Fire was opened upon them, and nine of their number, one of whom was wounded, were captured.

SUPPOSED DRILLERS CHASED.

ONE MAN SHOT.

Crown forces on patrol duty at Lisacul, some miles north-west of Castlerea, surprised a party of civilians, who were believed to be drilling, at half-past 7 o'clock on Sunday evening. The civilians scattered on the approach of the Crown forces, and were pursued for some distance. They were repeatedly called upon to halt, but refused to do so, and after they had been chased for nearly two miles fire was opened upon them, with the result that one man, Thomas Rush, aged 30, of Magheraboy, County Mayo, was shot dead. There were no other casualties.

Our Castlerea Correspondent states that Rush was shot at Lisacul, about five miles from Castlerea. Crown forces visited the district, and when approaching the publichouse of a man named Creighton a number of men, about thirty in number, were seen near the premises. On the approach of the Crown forces they ran away, and were fired at, with the result that Thomas Rush was shot dead, part of the side of his head being blown away. It is stated that Rush was a pensioner from the American Navy.

FIGHT WITH ARMED CIVILIANS.

ONE MAN WOUNDED.

General Headquarters, Dublin, reports that at twenty minutes past 1 o'clock yesterday morning armed rebels were encountered by a cyclist patrol of Crown forces at Kilballyowen, County Limerick, and that after an exchange of shots the rebels fled.

Patrick O'Brien, who was apparently acting as sentry was wounded, and captured.

TAKEN OUT TO BE SHOT.

AN EX-SOLDIER'S ESCAPE.

Telegraphing yesterday, our Navan Correspondent says:—Last night at about 11 o'clock, Thomas Duke, a gardener and an ex-soldier, was taking his supper in his house at Warrenstown when two masked men entered, and one, who was armed with a revolver, asked him to accompany them outside. Duke asked the reason, and the men replied: "Never mind, march on." They brought him some distance along the road, asked him if he was a Catholic, and told him to say his prayers as he was going to be shot. One of the men pointed a revolver against Duke's head, when Duke struck up the revolver and grappled with his assailant. The second man caught Duke by the throat. Duke struggled, and, being a young man of powerful physique, he broke the men's hold and escaped. As he was running off one of the men fired at him, the bullet passing through his coat and shirt, but fortunately without injuring him. Duke had a marvellous escape. He asked his assailants what he was to be shot for, and they replied that he was a spy. The Dunshaughlin police were informed of the outrage, and are investigating the affair.

MORE HOUSE-BURNING.

Our Athlone Correspondent states that early on Sunday morning Curraghboy House, a large mansion nine miles from Athlone, the property of Mr. B. V. O'Brien, an extensive farmer, was burned to the ground by unknown men. Mr. O'Brien yesterday stated that at 1.30 in the morning he was awakened by loud knocking at the door. On answering the knock he was confronted by a man, armed with a revolver, who was accompanied by a large number of armed men. Mr. O'Brien asked the man whom he took to be the leader, "did they come to shoot." The first man replied that they did not come to shoot, but that they had come to burn. They believed that Curraghboy House was to be taken over by the military authorities, and they came to burn it. Mr. O'Brien assured them that there was not a word of truth in the suggestion that the military were taking over his house. The men then stated that they had orders to burn the house, and they had to carry them out. They told him to gather his personal belongings, and subsequently four of the raiding party escorted himself and his housekeeper—the only occupants—to a neighbouring house. All his furniture and belongings were removed to a safe place before the house was fired. Nothing now remains of the house but the walls. Mr. O'Brien, who is retiring from farming, recently began the sale of Curraghboy House and farm for £6,000, and negotiations for the completion of the sale were proceeding.

MANSION DESTROYED.

An unoccupied mansion at Cavanagh, in the Cootehill district, the property of Mr. Robert Armstrong, has been maliciously destroyed by fire.

SHOT BY MISTAKE.

The official report states that on Sunday night an ex-soldier was held up at Crumlin, Co. Dublin, by three armed men, who shot him in the right shoulder, and then asked him his name. When he told them his name they said, "We have made a mistake."

THROWING A BOMB AT A SENTRY.

A bomb was thrown and a number of shots were fired at the sentry at Cabinteely police barracks on Sunday night. Fire was opened by the sentry on a man seen running away. The constable on sentry duty received no injury, and no damage was done to the barracks.

DONEGAL TRAIN SERVICE RESUMED.

Our Donegal Correspondent states that the train service between Donegal and Killybegs, which was suspended since last Thursday, owing to raids by armed and masked men, when telegraph and other instruments were carried off in the Dunkineely, Inver, and Mountcharles railway stations, was resumed yesterday.

MILITARY SEARCHES.

BIG SWEEPING OPERATIONS.

NUMEROUS ARRESTS.

DUG-OUT FOUND IN CLARE.

Our Galway Correspondent states that cavalry and Auxiliaries have returned to Galway after an extensive search of the mountains on the borders of the Counties of Clare and Mayo.

It is reported that a party of Auxiliaries came upon a well-concealed dug-out at Feakle, where six armed men were reposing. One of them made an effort to escape and was wounded. All six were captured and taken to Galway, where the wounded man is doing well.

He has, it is understood, been lodged at Renmore Military Hospital.

HUNDREDS DETAINED IN COUNTY MONAGHAN.

Our Ballybay Correspondent states that mounted military made an extensive search in Ballybay district early yesterday morning. Men between the ages of eighteen and fifty, hundreds in number, were brought to temporary resting places for identification by the R.I.C., and while large numbers have been released, hundreds are still detained. Yesterday Ballybay was surrounded by the military.

Our Castleblayney Correspondent states that the district of County Monaghan which lies between Ballybay and Carrickmacross and Cootehill and Castleblayney was surrounded by large numbers of Crown forces early yesterday morning, and searching operations on an extensive scale were carried out. All the male inhabitants were "rounded up" at different centres, and fifty or sixty men were brought to the Auxiliary Police headquarters at Castleblayney. Telephonic communication from the surrounding towns was cut off by the military at both the post office and the railway cabins. At the time of writing the search is in progress and prisoners are arriving hourly.

Our Newbliss Correspondent states—Considerable military activity prevails in Co. Monaghan, into which large numbers of troops, mounted and on foot, have been drafted along the boundary of the county. Telegraph and telephonic communication has been cut off at all the post offices. From reports to hand it would seem as if the borders of the county have been invested.

REBEL COMMANDANT CAPTURED.

Our Bantry Correspondent, telegraphing yesterday, says—During the past week-end much military activity has been observable, and large military sweeping operations have taken place in the eastern districts of Bantry and around Drimoleague, converging moves being made by forces operating from Bantry, Dunmanway, and Skibbereen. A number of young men have been taken into custody. They were brought here last evening, and this morning were taken to Cork under a strong military escort.

It is stated that the captures included a Commandant of the I.R.A. Additional forces of military have arrived in Bantry.

ARRESTS IN SKIBBEREEN DISTRICT.

Our Skibbereen Correspondent states that on Saturday evening a number of houses in Skibbereen were searched by the military and one arrest was made. Mr. Florence O'Shea, Urban Councillor and secretary of the local branch of the Transport Union, was placed under arrest and conveyed to the Town Hall, the military headquarters. He was detained there until Monday morning, when, under an escort, he was removed by the early train for Cork. It is supposed that the movements of Saturday evening continued into the night in the country districts, as motor lorries filled with soldiers were passing all through the night, and on Sunday morning it was ascertained that a great many arrests had been made over a wide area.

ARRESTS IN COUNTY WICKLOW.

Twelve men were arrested last week and brought into Wicklow Jail from various parts of County Wicklow.

DEATH SENTENCE COMMUTED.

Our Limerick Correspondent telegraphs:—Official intimation has been received in Limerick that the prisoner Timothy Murphy, an ex-soldier, convicted, with Edward Punch, a sawyer, of levying war and being in possession of arms by a military tribunal at the New Barracks, is reprieved, the death sentence being commuted to one of penal servitude, as in the case of Punch a few days since. The charge arose out of an occurrence at Carey's road on the 23rd April last, when, it was alleged for the prosecution, bombs were thrown at the police, and revolver firing took place. The Judge Advocate at the trial commented on the treatment received by the prisoners, and all knowledge of a revolver found in the house where they stayed while "on the run" was denied by accused.

PRISONERS' ESCAPE IN COUNTY LEITRIM.

Two young men named Michael McLoughlin and James Meehan, who had been in custody in Carrick-on-Shannon for some time past, made their escape during Saturday night, and have since evaded arrest. McLoughlin was arrested on a goods train a few months ago with Mr. Alec McCabe, M.P., who is at present interned. Meehan is believed to be a native of the Ballinamore district, and has been in custody for some time.

NEWSPAPER OFFICE BURNED.

Our Dundalk Correspondent states that during Sunday night the Dundalk branch office of the Belfast Evening Telegraph in Park street, Dundalk, was maliciously set on fire and the interior of the building was almost gutted. An attempt to burn the place had been made on Saturday morning by four armed men, who "held up" the staff, sprinkled petrol on files kept in an overhead office, and set them on fire. People residing in the neighbourhood, observing the flames on Saturday, promptly carried buckets of water and extinguished the blaze before material damage had been done. A month ago the office was raided by armed men, who disarranged the type, while others of the same party seized the papers being conveyed to the office, and burned them in the street.

BRIDAL PARTY'S EXPERIENCE IN CO. CAVAN.

A wedding party at Cootehill, Co. Cavan, had an exciting experience a few days ago, when the motor car in which they were driving was "held up" at a trench on the road near Cootehill. The bride and bridegroom were compelled to get out of the car, which was then burned. Portion of the bride's trousseau was also destroyed. The raiders, who were fully armed, then decamped. The owner of the car was a demobilised soldier.

IRISH QUESTIONS.

MILITARY REPRISALS.

Lieutenant-Colonel Walter Guinness asked the Prime Minister, in the House of Commons yesterday, whether any decision had yet been reached to discontinue as authorised military reprisals in Ireland the destruction of the property of those against whom no crime could be proved.

Sir Hamar Greenwood—The Commander-in-Chief has recently issued an order that every action taken against property must be based on strictly military grounds, as defined by military orders.

Mr. MacCallum Scott—Has there been a decision of the Government to stop reprisals?

Sir Hamar Greenwood—It is impossible to answer that, for this reason—different members of the House have different definitions of the word "reprisals." My best answer is an answer that refers to the whole action of the Crown forces in Ireland, and I think it is a view that meets the view of the House, as exemplified in the recent debate.

THE AVAILABLE SURPLUS.

Lieutenant-Colonel Walter Guinness asked the Prime Minister whether he could state the surplus which would be available for the Irish Parliaments on the basis of the estimated yield of this year's Budget, and how this amount compared with the surplus shown in the financial memoranda issued in connection with the Government of Ireland Bill last year.

Mr. Chamberlain—I hope to issue a statement shortly.

SINN FEIN AND RUSSIA.

Colonel Archer Shee asked Mr. Chamberlain whether a man named McCartan, who was in last March diplomatic representative in Russia of the so-called Sinn Fein Republic, was still in Russia.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he understood that Mr. McCartan was still in Russia, but he did not know in what capacity.

FARROW'S BANK CASE.

The trial of Thomas Farrow, William Walter Crotch, and Frederick Duncan Hart in connection with the conduct of Farrow's Bank, was resumed before Mr. Justice Greer, at the Central Criminal Court, London, yesterday.

Evidence was given by Mrs. Sarah Court, the wife of a tailor, employed by the London County Council, of St. Augustine's road, Camden square. She stated that in May of last year her husband took shares in Farrow's Bank, and, upon his advice she bought a hundred shares on May 10, for which she paid £50. In November she received a printed notice of a call on her shares, and she paid another £50. When she bought the shares she had the greatest confidence in the bank, and did not think that there was anything wrong with it.

The case for the prosecution was concluded yesterday, and the Court adjourned.

The defence will be opened to-day.

THE MURDER OF DEAN FINLAY.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS.

Further details with regard to the murderous attack on the residence of the aged Dean Finlay go to show that early on Sunday morning, about one o'clock, a party of fifty armed and disguised men came to his residence, which is situated about a mile from the village of Bawnboy, Co. Cavan. They knocked at the door, and, in response to the knock, the Dean left his bed, came down in night attire, and opened the door. He was then taken charge of by some of the raiders, whilst six of the party went upstairs and roused Mrs. Finlay, his wife, and the servants, and took them away to the house of a man named Finlay, about 200 yards distant.

Before being taken away Mrs. Finlay inquired about the Dean, and was told that "he would be all right and she would see him later," or words to that effect.

At about five o'clock Mrs. Finlay became alarmed about the Dean, and left the house to which she was brought and returned to her former residence, only to find it in flames. To her infinite horror she found the body of the Dean lying stretched out on the grass in front of the house, about ten yards from the front door.

He was then dead, and an examination of the body showed a wound on the back of the head at the base of the skull. It is believed to be a bullet wound, but whether from a rifle or revolver, at the moment, cannot be ascertained.

The house was afterwards completely destroyed by fire, only the walls being left standing. The Dean was retired for about twelve years. He was Dean of Leighlin, and came back to reside in his native place, only to meet with an untimely and cruel end. He was beloved by all classes, was a most charitable man, and his death comes as a great shock to the whole community.

The motive for the crime is at present obscure, but it is said some short time previously the house was inspected by some persons on behalf of the Auxiliary forces as a prospective barracks. The Dean's body is lying there awaiting an inquiry. The house stands by itself on the lake shore, and the nearest house is about 200 yards away. The Dean was 80 years of age, and his wife is also advanced in years.

AN UNSPEAKABLE CRIME.

At the sitting of Cavan Quarter Sessions on Monday morning, at 11 o'clock, His Honour Judge Brown made reference to the matter in the following terms:—As Chairman of Quarter Sessions, I must digress for a moment to-day from the business of the civil bill court to say with what horror I heard yesterday that a very old, retired, and much-beloved clergyman, Dean Finlay, who lived near Bawnboy, had been done to death in the early hours of yesterday, and that his house had been set on fire and completely destroyed. It passes belief that Cavan men could find in their hearts to commit such an unspeakable crime against an inoffensive, charitable, and highly-esteemed old gentleman, spending his few declining years in the quiet country amongst neighbours who have always been friendly towards him. Words cannot express one's detestation of such an act. Feeble in body and absolutely defenceless he met his end. One remembers the shock sustained by the civilised world as the news spread abroad of the torture by the Germans in 1915 of unfortunate, unresisting clergymen in Belgium, but one might naturally think that the County of Cavan would be spared in 1921 from such an act as this, and not have its good named sullied in the eyes of posterity.

THE OFFICIAL REPORT.

A Dublin Castle report states that about two o'clock on Sunday morning fifty armed and masked men entered the house of Dean Finlay, near Swanlinbar, County Cavan, and running up stairs they ordered the inmates, including the Dean's wife and six servants, to leave at once. They were taken to a house near by in their night attire, and their house was then set on fire by the raiders. When Mrs. Finlay returned to the house at five o'clock she found it had been completely destroyed, and the Dean was found dead twelve yards from where the front door stood.

THE MURDER OF HAMPSHIRE BANDSBOYS.

EVIDENCE AT MILITARY INQUIRY.

At Cork Barracks a military inquiry in lieu of an inquest was held respecting the death of Corporal Hicklow, Corporal McCall, Bandsman Burre, Private Washington, Boy Evans, Boy Simmons, and Boy Hesterman, of the 2nd Hampshire Regiment, who were killed in a mine explosion at Youghal.

An officer who was in charge of the company of soldiers stated that they were going to the rifle range at Youghal on 31st May. The band was unarmed. There was an explosion in the middle of the band, which was playing at the time. The mine was exploded by a battery which was found about eighty yards away. Three soldiers were killed outright, three others died shortly after, and another on the following day. It was a well-known fact that the band and the regiment were becoming very popular with the townspeople. Since their arrival there had been no trouble of any kind between the townspeople and the military.

THE VERDICT.

The Court found that the cause of death was due to lacerated and penetrated wound and shock and hemorrhage caused by an explosion of a road mine at Youghal on 31st May; that the explosion that caused the deaths was due to a portion of the road being mined and exploded electrically by one or more persons unknown, such person or persons being guilty of wilful murder; the Court is of opinion that this cold-blooded murder was deliberately planned on account of the popularity of the band and the regiment, and that the murderer or murderers knew that the band was unarmed and contained many young boys, and that no attack was made on anybody else except the band.

ATTEMPTED DESTRUCTION OF A BRIDGE.

Yesterday at Cork Barracks a military court sat for the trial of William Daly, Shannonvale; Timothy Keohane, Rackfordstown; John Driscoll, ditto; and Cornelius Driscoll, Ballymacwilliam, all residing outside Clonakilty, on the charge of levying war by taking part in the demolition of a bridge on the main road between Clonakilty and Ballinascarthy.

The accused pleaded not guilty and were defended by counsel.

The Prosecutor said that an act such as interrupting lines of communication was an act of war just as much as firing on troops.

Evidence was given that when the military patrol arrived at the bridge in question the usual preparations had been completed for blowing it up. The accused were arrested on the spot, one of them, Daly, being wounded. A revolver, with bullets reversed, and a rifle was also found, as well as picks, shovels, crowbars, etc.

The accused made statements denying the charge.

The Court reserved judgment.

A GUNNER SHOT.

At King George V. Hospital the death of Gunner J. Hoare, R.G.A., was investigated by a military court of inquiry.

The medical evidence was that Hoare's jaw had been fractured on the right under side by a bullet which passed upwards towards the brain. Death followed shock and hemorrhage. The bullet had been fired close to the jaw, for the wound was slightly blacked.

A soldier, who told the Court that he frequently was attacked by acute depression, and wanted to kill himself for no particular reason, declared in evidence that at 9.30 p.m. on June 11, in the canteen, he called Hoare and told him he (Hoare) could have all his kit. Hoare asked why; what was the matter? The witness replied that he was going to "do himself in." Hoare said, "Don't be a fool." Afterwards the witness went to his room and put a round of ammunition in the rifle, without removing it from the rack. Then Hoare entered, and witness again told him that he could have all his kit. The witness went to the rifle rack, and, while talking to Gunner Hoare, put out his hand for the rifle. Hoare got hold of the rifle first and pulled it towards him; it went off, and Hoare fell on the floor.

In further evidence the witness said that there had been no struggle. Hoare simply took hold of the rifle to prevent witness from getting it, and it discharged. They were both sober. Hoare was a good friend of his.

The inquiry was adjourned.

EMIGRATION STATISTICS.

1,781 IN MAY.

The return of the number of emigrants from Ireland, as issued by the Registrar-General, shows a steady increase since January last on the figures of the previous year, the net increase for the five months being 4,315 persons. In the year 1920 the emigrants were, in January, 156 males and 196 females; in February, 142 males and 227 females; in March, 321 males and 393 females; in April, 286 males and 506 females; and in May, 607 males and 932 females. This year the figures are:—January, 365 males and 196 females; February, 818 males and 965 females; March, 975 males and 1,253 females; April, 845 males and 958 females; and May, 686 males and 1,095 females. For the first five months there was an increase this year in emigration of 25 in Leinster, of 2,309 in Munster, of 786 in Ulster, and of 1,180 in Connaught. The destinations of the emigrants this year, up to the end of May, were:—United States of America, 6,937; Canada, 589; South Africa, 25; Australia, 21; New Zealand, 21; other countries, 1. To England and Wales 146 sailed, and to Scotland 20. Of the number who went to America 1,666 had their passages paid for in the United States.

DUBLIN AMBUSHES.

MILITARY OFFICERS BOMBED.

AN ATTACKER WOUNDED.

An attack was made on Crown forces near St. Vincent's Hospital, St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, yesterday, after a military inquiry at the institution. The officers, who were in mufti, had just left the hospital in a motor car, when shots were fired by a party of men from the railings of the park on the opposite side. One man ran out from a narrow gate and took deliberate aim at the car, which was driven off at high speed. The noise of a loud explosion, as if caused by a bomb, was heard. None of the occupants of the car was hit, but an elderly woman, named Brigid Houlihan, York street, who was sitting on the steps near the Loreto College, was severely injured in the right leg. Shortly after the attack a large force of Auxiliary police visited the scene of the attack, took possession of the park, and made some arrests.

General Military Headquarters afterwards issued the following reports:—

Shortly after noon to-day three officers, after holding a Court of Inquiry at St. Vincent's Hospital, Dublin, were leaving that institution in a car when they were bombed by two men in St. Stephen's Green, who ran out from behind the railings surrounding the Green and threw two bombs, both of which fell behind the car and exploded.

There were no military casualties.

Fire was opened on the ambushers, one of whom was seen to fall, holding his head.

SHOTS AT BACHELOR'S WALK.

About 1.30 o'clock yesterday revolver shots were fired at a party of Crown forces, which was being driven in a motor tender along the Northern quays in the direction of Kingsbridge. The shots, which apparently came from a laneway off Bachelor's Walk, missed their targets, and, beyond causing a panic amongst those who happened to be passing, the incident was uneventful.

EXPLOSIONS AT ENNISKERRY.

Bomb explosions were heard in the Enniskerry district on Sunday night, and also the sound of shots, but no explanation could be obtained yesterday.

THE DUBLIN MURDERS.

An official report issued yesterday regarding the shooting of two men in Dublin on Sunday night says that the men were found shot at Rainsford street, Dublin. They were conveyed to hospital where on admission one of them was found to be dead and the other died shortly afterwards. From the demobilisation papers found on one of them it appears that he was Sergeant Michael Brennan, 4684 R.H. and R.F.A. Enlisted 29th August, 1914, transferred to Reserve 7th March, 1919. Number 11 room, 138 Great Yarmouth. On the other man was found an unemployment card bearing the name J. F. Smith, 23966, 192 R.M. The remains of both are in Steevens's Hospital, and are unidentified.

MAILS SEIZED IN COUNTY DUBLIN.

Two seizures of bags of mails from railway trains took place yesterday on the Dublin and South-Eastern line. Shortly after 12.30 o'clock a train from Dublin was stopped at Salthill Station by armed men, who took four mail bags from the van, placed them in a motor car, and took them away. At about 6 o'clock a man who was driving a coal cart was stopped in the neighbourhood of Ballybrack by men who placed four mail bags in his cart and told him to ask no questions, but to take the bags to the Dalkey Post Office. The driver of the coal cart delivered the four bags as instructed. It is supposed that they were the bags that had been taken from the train at Salthill.

Shortly after 4 p.m. a train from Bray was stopped at Killiney Railway Station by three armed men, who took possession of two mail bags, placed them in a cart, and drove them away.

DUBLIN COURTS-MARTIAL.

CHARGE OF CARRYING ARMS.

At a Courtmartial at Kilmainham Courthouse, Dublin, yesterday, a young man named F. J. Kenny, 29 Lower Dominick street, Dublin, pleaded not guilty to a charge of having a revolver in his possession on the 29th May.

A member of the Auxiliary force gave evidence that on the date in question the police stopped a crowd of civilians at O'Connell Bridge. He searched accused, who had a small revolver in his right hand trousers pocket. Accused, said witness, explained that he picked up the revolver, but a little later said that a woman in the crowd gave it to him.

In reply to the President, witness said that the revolver was not serviceable and was now in the same condition as when he got it.

Accused—I told him I picked it up. I never said a woman gave it to me. He is making some mistake.

Witness, answering the President, said that the revolver could be repaired and made serviceable.

Accused said that he picked up the revolver, and thinking that if the Auxiliaries saw it they would shoot him he put it in his pocket.

The Court closed, judgment being reserved.

"FIND" OF CARTRIDGES AND BOMB FITTINGS.

At a Courtmartial at Kilmainham Courthouse, Dublin, yesterday, Leo and Robert Byrne, Portmahon Lodge, Rialto Bridge, Dublin, were charged with having 100 Morris tube cartridges not under effective military control at their residence, and of keeping concealed a pair of large wire cutters, 7 bomb levers, 2 bomb lever pins, and 3 bomb springs on 7th April.

On Wednesday last when the accused were arraigned, Robert Byrne elected to be tried separately, and the case against Leo Byrne only was opened.

The Court closed, and it was subsequently announced that accused was found not guilty. He was then released, but on leaving the Courthouse he was again re-arrested.

REVOLVERS IN A FINGLAS "CAMP."

Four youths, named J. P. Jordan, P. O'Hanrahan, T. Wall, and J. Grannel, were charged before a Courtmartial yesterday at the North Dublin Union Barracks with having in their possession at Finglas, Co. Dublin, on the 24th May, two revolvers, not under effective military control. They were further charged with having in their possession two rounds of revolver ammunition of a "dum dum" type. The prisoners Jordan and O'Hanrahan refused to recognise the jurisdiction of the Court.

The Court found Wall and Grannel "not guilty," and they were discharged. In the other two cases the findings will be promulgated later.

INQUIRIES HELD BY MILITARY COURTS.

On Saturday evening Patrick J. Lawler (69), of 475 North Circular road, died of head injuries received in Dorset street, when he was knocked down by a motor car the same day. Yesterday the death was investigated by a military inquiry, in lieu of an inquest, at the Mater Misericordiae Hospital.

A doctor said that Lawler was dead when admitted to the Hospital at 5.30 on Saturday evening. The causes had been shock and concussion of the brain, following fracture of the base of the skull. The injuries could have been caused by being knocked down by a motor car.

According to the evidence of a soldier cyclist, a military motor ambulance was on fire outside Keogh Brothers, photographers, at 5.20 p.m. on Saturday. At that minute an old man was crossing the roadway. A motor car was in the street, approaching Dublin from the Collinstown direction. The car struck the old man in the chest and "carried" him about thirty yards. Then the machine came to a standstill, and three civilians who were in it picked the old man up and drove him to the Mater Hospital. The soldier rode after them and took the number of the car. Two civilians, who were not of the car party, carried the man to hospital. The soldier asked them if they were occupants of the car, and they said "No." He could not identify any of the car's occupants.

The Court adjourned and viewed a car outside the hospital, whose number, it was said, corresponded with the number seen by the soldier.

A member of the Phœnix Park Race Club said that his car was at the race enclosure with nearly a hundred others that afternoon. It remained there till after the last race, which was about a quarter to six. This evidence was corroborated by the chauffeur.

The evidence concluded, and the result will be announced.

DEPORTEE'S CHILD DIES.

At St. Vincent's Hospital a military court of inquiry yesterday investigated the death of a child, John William Rutkovsky, son of a Russian who was recently deported from England.

The child's mother, who is English, stated that she was on her way to Cork with the intention of ultimately joining her husband abroad. Both she and her child suffered considerably on the trip from the Mersey to Dublin. On arrival at Dublin the mother took her boy to St. Vincent's Hospital, but the house surgeon said that the child had already died.

A verdict of death from natural causes was recorded.

ROTARY CONVENTION.

NOTEWORTHY GATHERING AT EDINBURGH.

THE AIMS OF ROTARY.

Great enthusiasm marked the opening of the twelfth annual Convention of the International Association of Rotary Clubs at Edinburgh yesterday. This is the first time that the Convention has been held in Great Britain. The Rotary Club is an American institution, which has spread to many other countries, and 1,500 members of the [illegible] delegates were from the United States and Canada, thus constituting the largest single delegation that has ever left America. They are chiefly business and professional men, representing very varied interests.

The Convention opened in the Usher Hall, with a pageant in which standard-bearers representing countries in which Rotary is established marched to the platform, escorted by girl couriers, wearing national costumes. The enthusiasm grew to a great pitch when the Scottish lion and the Stars and Stripes closed the procession, and the audience sang with great fervour the battle-hymn of the American Republic.

The Lord Provost gave the delegates a Civic welcome, responding to which, and other addresses of welcome, Mr. Albert S. Adams, Real Estate Agent, of Atlanta, Georgia, Immediate Past President, asked: "Fellows, are we glad we are here?" which was answered by a resounding "Yes" from the audience. "We come from many lands, but for no selfish purposes," declared Mr. Adams. "We come not to extol our own virtue, nor to belittle the virtues of others. We come not to barter, nor to sell, not to change boundary lines, not to play a game of politics—of how to get most for ourselves and give the least in return. We come as men bringing a message of goodwill and friendship from the hearts of men who think for themselves, and will not be blinded [illegible] heart of the peoples from whom we come is not truly represented by the radical, frothy politician, nor the yellow sensational, nor the trouble-breeding newspapers. (Cheers.) Rotary, added Mr. Adams, desired to blaze out the trail, to the end that the nations of the earth should be friends. They were all crusaders, marching under the banner of Rotary, on which was emblazoned, "Service before self."

THE PRESIDENT.

The President, Mr. Estes Snedecor, an attorney, of Portland, Oregon, who followed, said that the convention would cost something at a time when men must conserve their time and money. It must, therefore, count for something tremendously worth while. In sixteen years Rotary had grown from a group of four earnest men in Chicago into a great international organisation, consisting of 977 clubs, established in fourteen countries, and comprising nothing more or less than a unique grouping of men around old principles and ideals in such a manner as to produce the greatest amount of activity and earnestness. In putting those principles and ideals into daily practice there was a danger to the organisation of super-idealism, and an increasing and unpractical emotionalism—a tendency upon the part of some Rotarians to look upon Rotary as some mystical power, transforming men's lives; a new religion to rescue the world from selfishness. It was not essentially a peace society, but by its international character it could be of service to the world. The world was groping for some association of nations, whereby nations might, with dignity and honour, adjust their differences. Rotary had its mission to perform of promoting a more friendly understanding between the representative business men of the world, and common ideals of justice and fair dealing. In these days of economic stress, the destinies and peace of the world were largely in the hands of the business men of the world. (Cheers.)

The message sent by President Harding before the delegation left America was read, and also one from Mr. Paul P. Harris, of Chicago, founder of the movement.

Mr. Harris wrote that Rotary was a product of the West, expressive of the freedom of democracy and the good-fellowship of wind-swept prairies. The Convention was a test as to whether it could bridge the chasm between the freedom of the West and the conservation of the East.

The conference sent telegrams to the King, to President Harding, and to Mr. Harris.

The afternoon session was devoted to a revision of the constitution and by-laws, and the programme for the day included a garden party in the afternoon and a reception by the Lord Provost and magistrates in the evening.

COURTS-MARTIAL TRIALS.

SENTENCES FOR CARRYING ARMS.

The following findings and sentences as the result of trials by courts-martial were announced yesterday at Military Headquarters, Dublin:—

John Shandley, 13 Viking place, Dublin, was sentenced to ten years' penal servitude in connection with an attack on Auxiliary police near Phibsborough Church on February 12th. The accused man was seen near a corner where a bomb was thrown and shots fired, and he was seen firing from a revolver at one of the party. On April 29th he was found at Blackhall place, and he pointed a revolver at one of the search party. He endeavoured to escape. His revolver was loaded in three chambers.

Ronald McGinn, Town Hall, Clontarf, who was arrested in a crowd around a Ford van near the Mater Hospital, and who, when attempting to escape, was found with a revolver fully loaded, was sentenced to seven years' penal servitude.

John J. Keane, who was sentenced to ten years' penal servitude, was charged with giving instructions to a number of men who were observed by a police patrol sitting around him in a wood, near which a rifle and bayonet was picked up.

A sentence of three years' penal servitude was imposed on Augustine Gabbet, Patrick O'Donnell, Gerard Corr, Francis Cooney, Thomas Dargan, Patrick Tuthill, Michael Hehir, William Burke, and Thomas Kearns, all of Limerick, who were found in a wood, apparently receiving a lecture from John J. Keane, near whom a bayonet and rifle were found.

POLICE CONSTABLE COURT-MARTIALLED.

ALLEGED THEFT OF CANTEEN FUNDS.

At a Field General Courtmartial in Waterford yesterday, Constable John Jenkins, R.I.C., was charged with the theft of £30 and £31 from canteen funds, while stationed in Kilkenny. He was also charged with forging a receipt from a butcher for an amount alleged to have been paid to the latter.

Evidence was given that the accused was appointed canteen manager and mess caterer on 4th February last. He absconded on February 19, and when the officer in charge of the "Light Repair Unit," from which the money was said to be stolen, broke open the canteen and mess cash box, all that was left of over £200 was £6 odd in silver and coppers. The accused was arrested in Holyhead, and it was then discovered that he had shaved off his moustache. In his possession was then found the sum of £37, and some odd silver and copper; also the keys of the canteen at No. 4 "Light Repair Unit" of the R.I.C., Kilkenny.

The accused pleaded guilty to theft and fraudulent conversion, and the charge of forgery was withdrawn.

Judgment was reserved.

DUBLIN FORGERY CHARGE.

In the Northern Police Court, Dublin, yesterday, before Mr. Lupton, K.C., John Kenny, a horse dealer, residing at New Grove, Raheny, County Dublin, was charged in custody by Detective Sergeant Mahon that he did feloniously forge a certain telegram addressed to Major Despa, Belgian Horse Commissioner, Brussels, with intent to defraud.

The accused was remanded on bail.

SNIPING IN BELFAST.

POLICEMEN FIRED AT.

THREE CIVILIANS WOUNDED.

Telegraphing last night, our Belfast Correspondent states:—The rioting which occurred in Belfast during the week-end resulted in four deaths, one of the injured men having died this morning. Reports from the hospitals indicate that over thirty persons were treated for wounds, and that all are making satisfactory progress towards recovery.

There was a renewal of the disturbance in the North Queen street area this afternoon, where Sinn Fein armed men indulged in much sniping at the police, who patrolled the district in Crossley tenders and armoured lorries. The constables retaliated, and there was a good deal of stone-throwing on the part of a crowd, whom the police soon succeeded in scattering.

Three persons were admitted to hospital, suffering from bullet wounds, but none of the injuries were serious, two of the patients not being detained.

A special constable, while driving a motor car down North street, was fired at, but fortunately the bullet missed him.

QUESTIONS IN PARLIAMENT.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. T. P. O'Connor asked the Chief Secretary if he had any information to give with regard to the tragic events of the week-end in Belfast.

Sir Hamar Greenwood said that he only received the notice at 2.20 that afternoon. He had telegraphed to Belfast for a full report, but he regretted that then he had no information.

Mr. T. P. O'Connor said that he had sent the question after he had read what appeared to him very full accounts in some of the evening papers with regard to these events.

Mr. A. Williams asked—Did the Chief Secretary get information of these events only when questions were put with regard to them?

Sir Hamar Greenwood said that reports were sent regularly to Dublin Castle from all parts of Ireland and forwarded to him in London as soon as they were received; but he had not received anything further in regard to Belfast than had been already issued by the public Press.

Mr. A. Williams—Is there any reason why information takes so much longer to reach the Chief Secretary than through the ordinary sources of information?

Sir Hamar Greenwood—The ordinary sources of information may say what they wish, but I can only take the information of officials on whom I rely. (Hear, hear, and laughter.)

ELECTIONS TO PUBLIC BOARDS.

The following Chairmen and Vice-Chairmen have been elected at the annual meeting of the undermentioned bodies:—

Dungarvan Rural Council.—Mr. D. Conway, Vice-Chairman—Mr. Thomas Hickey.

Dungarvan Board of Guardians.—Mr. Michael Beresnock. Vice-Chairman—Mr. F. Stuart.

Navan Rural Council.—Mr. James Ginnetty. Vice-Chairman—Mr. Thomas Foley.

PERFECTLY SHOCKING.

At the conclusion of a case in the Divorce Court, London, yesterday, Mr. Justice Horridge remarked:—"I think this is almost a record. The parties were only married in February of the present year, the adultery was in March following, and the decree nisi is pronounced to-day, June 13th. It is perfectly shocking."

A NEW GROWTH OF HAIR WITHIN YOUR REACH.

No matter how thin, short, dry, or brittle your hair may be, it's an easy thing to make it grow long, soft, luxuriant, and glossy. All you have to do is to get a bottle of Lavona Hair Tonic from the nearest chemist and apply it freely twice a day. This not only destroys the dandruff germ and stops the hair from falling out, but it also makes the hair grow wonderfully long, soft, and luxuriant, due, it is claimed, to the fact that it supplies to the hair roots the only element which high authorities are agreed will really promote hair growth. You can get Lavona Hair Tonic from any good chemist at 2s. 11d. a bottle, and, owing, to its unusual merit and the fact that the beneficial effect is so certain, you should at once give it a trial, for Lavona Hair Tonic succeeds where all else fails.

RATHMINES FIRE APPLIANCES.

APPLICATION FOR A LOAN.

An inquiry was held yesterday by Mr. A. D. Price, Engineering Inspector, Local Government Board, in reference to an application made by the Rathmines Urban Council for sanction to a loan of £2,000 for the purpose of purchasing a motor fire tender and pump.

Mr. R. A. Andrews (Messrs. D. and F. Fitzgerald) appeared on behalf of the Urban Council, and mentioned that Mr. Stephens, the Council's Surveyor, was, unfortunately, ill, but evidence in support of the application would be given by his assistant, Mr. W. H. Lambert, who was at present in charge of the Department.

Mr. Lambert in his evidence mentioned that at present they had an electrical fire machine which at no time had given satisfaction. The driving wheel went out of order, and it was sent away to be repaired three years ago, but it had not yet been mended. There was great difficulty with the machine. It could hardly, for instance, go up Leinster road, as it would not develop the power it was supposed to do. The batteries had to be repaired frequently. There was no pump attached to the machine, and it was very necessary to obtain one, as several large institutions were located where there were no three inch mains. The pump in several cases could operate from the canal, or in the case of the Hospice for the Dying from a pond in the grounds. The Council had conditionally accepted a tender to provide a motor engine with first-class appliances and a pump similar to those in use by the Dublin Corporation.

In reply to the Inspector, witness stated that the only way that they could carry fire hose at present was in a motor ambulance.

You have a fire escape?—We have no fire escape proper. We have a ladder, but it is very hard to get it out. We would first have to bring out the hose and then come back and get the ladder, which is carried on the electrical engine. We are in a very bad position in this respect at present. Since the strike we had two calls, but they both were false alarms.

In answer to further questions, Mr. Lambert said that as far as he knew it had not been suggested to provide a separate ladder in some outlying part of the township similar to that provided in Pembroke. The pump was really the chief requisite. In Rathmines they had plenty of water, but in Pembroke they had plenty of appliances.

Mr. Seacome Mason, Town Clerk, stated that it was proposed to raise the money by the issue of Rathmines Stock at about 55. It would be a very small thing upon the rates. The borrowing powers were twice the valuation, which was £180,378. A rate of 1s. in the £ would realise £8,873. The Council did not derive any revenue directly from the fire brigade, but they had the use of the staff for other purposes. No objection to the loan had been received. They had not heard complaints about the appliances not being in order, but the Council themselves considered that the present ones were not sufficient.

The inquiry then closed.

PEMBROKE URBAN COUNCIL.

THE CURTAILMENT OF THE WATER SUPPLY.

The question of the township water supply was discussed yesterday evening at the meeting of the Pembroke Urban Council, and a strong protest was made by members at the cutting off of the water supply without previous notice having been given to the ratepayers.

Mr. Fannin said that 50,000 people had been left without water from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday.

The Chairman (Mr. B. O'Connor) said that Mr. Buckley, the Borough Surveyor, had paid them a visit that day, and told them that in Pembroke they had been using a quarter of a million more gallons of water a day than they were entitled to.

The Town Clerk submitted for the Council's approval a letter to the Town Clerk of the City of Dublin, pointing out that the Pembroke Urban Council had co-operated in every way in the past with the Corporation in the matter of the water supply, as had been proved on many occasions, and stating that it was the desire of the Urban Council to continue that co-operation; but they ventured to ask for the favour of a reply as to whether, when all the three main valves were shut down, as referred to in his letter of 26th May, that action had been taken with the knowledge and approval of the Corporation. Mr. Manly further pointed out that the consumption of water last month was considerably lower than in any month of May since 1917.

Mr. Manly's letter was approved.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

THE GAIETY THEATRE.

"THE GIRL FOR THE BOY."

There was a good "house" at the Gaiety Theatre last night, when Mr. Jack Goodson presented "The Girl for the Boy," one of the most sprightly and entertaining musical comedies seen in Dublin for some time. The piece comes direct from the Duke of York's Theatre, London, and is by Austen Hurgon and George Arthurs, with music by Howard Carr and Bernard Rolt, and lyrics by Percy Greenbank. It abounds in catchy songs and pretty dances, with plenty of light humour. The principal parts are all in the hands of capable artists. Mr. Clifford Harcourt, as George Darling, makes a hero of manly presence and proves himself possessed of a sweet tenor voice, while Mr. Hal Gordon, as Harry Kilmartin, an artist friend of the hero, provides most of the fun, and proves himself a knockabout entertainer of somewhat exceptional versatility. Miss Maudie Harris, as Cooper, the maid, acts with charm and grace, and dances prettily, while Mr. Edward Warden makes quite a convincing Cabinet Minister. Mr. Theo Hook, as Ferdinand Cleo, the Chocolate King, contributes his full share to the merriment, as does Mr. Frank Irwin, as the chauffeur. As Jacqueline, Miss Doris Ross makes a heroine of much charm, while Miss Renee Hamilton is no less pleasing in the part of Mary. There is a picturesque and tuneful chorus of models, harlequins, and artistes, with an augmented orchestra. The comedy will be repeated each evening during the week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

THE THEATRE ROYAL.

An excellently varied programme was presented at the Theatre Royal last evening to an appreciative audience. The Nina Quartette of banjoists gave a fine selection, which went so well that they had to respond to an imperative recall, and at the close they were enthusiastically applauded. Three able musicians and vocalists are Trevor, West, and Kinsley, and they also contributed a most admirable interlude of mirth and melody. Walton and Lester displayed their talents as burlesque comedians and dancers. An extraordinarily clever juggler is Fred Russell. Alert in movement, dexterous in his passing tricks, which he performs in an original and unexpected manner, he amuses his audience almost as much by his quaint mixture of English and French as by the experiments, which he works off with remarkable rapidity. Frank E. Franks is a comedian who tells some funny stories of his supposed experiences in the Army and in the picture theatre. Miss Lily Leyton sings a couple of popular songs in agreeable style, and Manuel and Francois indulge in some acrobatic feats of an amusing description. The screen pictures of scenes in France are quite interesting.

LAW REPORTS.

CORK TANNING COMPANY'S ACTION.

In the King's Bench Division yesterday, before Mr. Justice Moore, in the case of Richard H. Beamish and A. G. Sharman Crawford, trading as the Cork Tanning Co., against Harry Boston and Sons, Ltd., leather factors, Liverpool, which was an action by the plaintiffs to recover £13,406, price of a quantity of leather sold and delivered to the defendants, Mr. Fitzgibbon, K.C., with whom were Mr. T. Sullivan, K.C., and Mr. V. Rice (instructed by Messrs. Bowles and French), moved on behalf of the defendants for an order staying execution pending the hearing of a motion for a new trial, notice of which had been served. He said that there was a verdict for the plaintiffs for the amount claimed, and there was a counterclaim by the defendants for a similar amount, on which the jury also found for the plaintiffs. There had been £9,000 paid by the defendants to the plaintiffs in respect of leather goods that had been returned. Counsel said that the Lord Chief Justice, who tried the case, had reported that although he was unable to certify that the findings of the jury were perverse, he was unable to comprehend how they arrived at the verdict. The Lord Chief Justice had refused to leave to the jury a question as to whether or not the defendants rejected certain goods, and that was one of the things for which the defendants wanted a new trial.

Mr. Conner, K.C., with whom were Mr. S. L. Brown, K.C., and Mr. Phelps (instructed by Messrs. T. Exham and Son), opposed the motion on behalf of the plaintiffs, and said that their financial position was shown by their last balance which showed a loss on the year's trading of £112,000.

Mr. Justice Moore granted a stay until the new trial motion has been heard, on the terms that within a week the defendants brought into Court £5,000, the defendants to pay the costs of this motion.

A "LINE-BALL" CASE.—In the King's Bench Division, before Mr. Justice Moore, in the case of Vickery and another against Ashenhurst, Williams, and Co., of Dublin, Mr. J. M. Fitzgerald (instructed by Mr. H. J. McCormick) applied for an order to change the venue of the trial of the action from the City of Cork to the City of Dublin. The action was brought by the plaintiffs, who live at Bantry, to recover damages for the non-delivery of a Leyland motor lorry chassis, which was purchased by the plaintiff in 1919. The defendants, in an affidavit, supported their application by putting forward the present "dangerous and disturbed conditions of the County and City of Cork," and also the improbability of being able to secure the attendance of jurors in existing circumstances. A member of defendant's firm is in such a state of health that he could not travel to Cork and it would be necessary to bring expert witnesses from Leyland, in Lancashire, for whom it would be inconvenient to travel to Cork. Mr. G. H. Vickery made an affidavit in reply, in which he submitted that "the condition of Cork was as good as the condition in Dublin, and that there would be no difficulty whatever in securing a jury." Mr. Reardon (instructed by Mr. J. T. Wolfe), for the plaintiffs, in answer to the judge, said that in the event of a jury not being obtainable he was willing to have the case tried by a judge without a jury. If he did not get a trial in Cork at the coming Assizes the case would be postponed until November. Mr. Justice Moore said it was a "line-ball" case between them, and he made no rule on the motion.

CORK LADY'S BEQUESTS.—In the Chancery Division, before Mr. Justice Powell, in the matter of the trusts of the will of Mary Pickley, deceased, Mr. Fitzgibbon, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. P. W. Bass and Coy.) applied on behalf of Mr. Joseph Henry Hogan, of St. Quentin De Vesci, Glenageary, Co. Dublin, executor of the will of the deceased, who had resided at 3 Garfield terrace, Wellington road, Cork, for an order that the Rev. Father Superior Michele di Milia and the Rev. Vice-Superior Giuseppe Errico, both of the Monastery of the Capuchin Order, in the parish of San Lorenzo, Rome, be appointed trustees of the will of the deceased, for the purpose of receiving the residue of the personal estate and effects of the testatrix. Counsel moved on the affidavit of Mr. Hogan, who stated that Miss Pickley, by her will dated 1st August, 1914, after making certain pecuniary bequests bequeathed the residue of her property to the Very Rev. Father Anthony Sansone, of Rome, or, in the event of his death in her lifetime, then, to the Very Rev. Father Jerome, of the same address, upon trust, to apply it for a period of twenty years from her decease in offering up Masses to be said in public in some of the Catholic churches attached to the Capuchin Order, for the repose of the souls of her deceased father and mother and her deceased sister, Margaret, and of her own soul. The testatrix died on the 28th June, 1919. The debts, funeral and testamentary expenses of the deceased and the duties payable to the Crown had all been discharged, and there remained a residue of £1,115 6/8, which he (Mr. Hogan), as executor, had lodged on deposit receipt in the Hibernian Bank, Dublin. Father Sansone died in May 1920, before he had assumed the duties of his trusteeship. The event upon which Father Jerome was to become a trustee—the death of Father Sansone in the lifetime of the testatrix—did not occur, and he was, therefore, never a trustee. An affidavit was also made by the Very Rev. Father Aloysius, of the Capuchin Friary, Church street, Dublin. Mr. Justice Powell made the order sought.

DISPUTED BRICK CONTRACT.—At Nisi Prius, before Mr. Justice Dodd and a city common jury, the action brought by the Somerset Trading Co. against Messrs. Norman McNaughton and Sons, George's quay, Dublin, came on for hearing. The plaintiffs, whose registered office is at Bridgwater, Somersetshire, sought to recover £162 10/-, balance of the price of bricks sold and delivered to the defendants. The defendants traversed the contract, and said in their defence that the price at which the goods were sold was £140 10/-, and they brought that sum into court. The defendants counter-claimed for £250 damage, which, they alleged, they had suffered by reason of the breach of contract to sell and deliver to the defendants 150,000 bricks, half at 50/- and the other half at 25/- per thousand, for best and seconds, respectively, in June, 1917. The defendants accepted portion of the bricks, leaving a balance of 59,000 undelivered. The plaintiffs, in reply, said that before the contract was fully performed they were forbidden by the War Office to execute the balance. The jury, by direction of the judge, found a verdict for the plaintiffs on the claim and the counter-claim. Mr. Wood, K.C., and Mr. Tobias (instructed by Mr. M. Green Foley) appeared for the plaintiffs. Mr. Swayne, K.C., and Mr. Hector Hughes (instructed by Mr. George Birney) appeared for the defendants.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE CUSTOM HOUSE STATUES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Mr. Geoghegan's letter in your issue of Saturday last describes the statue surmounting the ruins of the Custom House as "erroneously referred to as being that of Hope," and that it should be Commerce, adopting Dr. McDowel Cosgrave's view. I have not seen the latter's contribution to this topic, and it is with the utmost diffidence that I offer any opinion in opposition to his views; but, if there be one consolatory fact left out of this national tragedy, it is the value to sentiment involved in the reflection that it is Hope "undismayed shall o'er the ruins smile."

In Whitelaw's History of Dublin, published in 1818 (not always, I admit, accepted as authoritative), the description of the Custom House is given with a good deal of corroborative detail, indicating a careful investigation. It is more contemporary than Thomas J. Mulvany's Life of James Gandon, referred to by Mr. Geoghegan, which was not published until after Mulvany's death in 1845. It is here stated as follows:—"The dome, 26 feet in diameter, is quite plain, covered with copper. On the top of it, on a circular pedestal, is a statue of Hope, resting on her anchor, 12 feet high and 113 feet from the ground. On the attic story, over the four pillars of the portico, are statues of Neptune, Plenty, Industry, and Mercury."

It is a commonly accepted tradition that among the ancients the anchor, as the hope and resource of the sailor, was made the emblem of hope, and has been found so, emblematically depicted, in many ancient records. The transverse bar of the anchor, forming a cross, probably helped towards the choice of the anchor as a Christian symbol. I cannot trace any corresponding tradition or emblematic significance in the case of Commerce.—Yours, etc.,

"C. G."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The interesting leader in your issue of the 8th inst. contains the statement that "the methods of Christian Science are inapplicable to politics. You cannot get rid of unloved facts by pretending that they are not there." All will agree that sin and sickness are unloved human experiences which all persons desire to be rid of. Christian Science is spreading steadily because it offers the way out from subjection to sin and sickness, and there are many now progressing along this way to health and happiness. In the words of Jesus Christ: "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." (John viii., 32). Where, it may be asked, does pretence come in here? In "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," Mrs. Eddy writes:—"Both sin and sickness are error, and truth is their remedy." (Page 461).—Yours, etc.,

E. M. BRUEN, Christian Science Committee on Publication for Dublin.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED IRREGULAR.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, MONDAY.

Stocks opened irregular. There was drastic liquidation and short selling of all stocks on more dividend defaults and predictions that others would follow. Owing to the dismal trade outlook many new low records were registered, Oils, Steels, Equipments, Sugars, and Railroads being the leaders, the losses ranging from 1 to 5 points. The market rallied 1 to 5 points, however, under short covering of Mexican Oils, and Motor issues were absorbed heavily on the rally; but selling of Northern Pacific Common and Great Northern Preference caused an irregular close.

CRICKET.

THE SECOND TEST MATCH.

AUSTRALIA'S FIRST INNINGS' LEAD.

ENGLAND'S WEAK DISPLAY.

Throughout yesterday England's representatives were engaged in endeavouring to recover the ground lost by their deplorable display at Lord's on Saturday. Their efforts were watched by another great crowd—one larger than before, though it was not until half-past three that the gates had to be closed, the spectators packing better. The weather at the start was ominous, but the light improved, the sky cleared, and the afternoon was pleasant, if cool. A sensation was provided at the start by the dismissal of Bardsley and Armstrong, the latter for a cypher.

The drawing of stumps at Lord's on Saturday had left England in a bad position—worse than at Nottingham—Australia holding a lead of four runs with seven wickets in hand. The first few minutes' play, however, considerably reduced this, and had matters gone well with the home team our visitors would not have held at lunch time the lead of 155 which they actually secured on their first innings. The effect of the dew had not worn off, and black clouds for some time hung over the ground, threatening rain, which did not intervene. Durston opened with a maiden from the nursery end, prompt at 11 o'clock, in the presence of another big crowd, and the second ball from Douglas from the opposite end was landed by Bardsley into the hands of Woolley at slip. The Colonial left-hander, except for an awkward return to Parkin just before the drawing of stumps on Saturday, had played fine cricket. His 88 included eleven 4's, and he was batting for two hours. The fourth wicket had yielded 46 in forty minutes. Armstrong, who followed, had his middle stump sent flying by Durston in the second over, amid a yell of delight, making half the side out. Taylor and Gregory, now associated, were most uncomfortable. The former nearly played on, and 200 having been posted in two hours and twenty minutes, Gregory, when 8, might have been secured from a sharp chance at second slip by Evans, off Durston, but the Oxonian, though he got both hands to it, failed to hold the ball, and over-balanced himself. At 230 Taylor was easily out to a return to Douglas for a useful 36, made in an hour and a quarter, although it was evident that he was in poor health. Hendry was content to leave the run-getting to Gregory, who caused a double change in the bowling at 244, Parkin relieving the captain and Haig Durston. The former's first few overs were extremely good, and Evans had a further chance of sending back Gregory, then 55, from a difficult left-handed catch in the slips. Hendry was at the wicket half an hour before getting a run, and then, after obtaining a single and a 4, was bowled, off stump, by Haig with a ball that kept low, his stay extending over forty-five minutes. Gregory, completing the half-century in an hour and a quarter, was easily caught and bowled by Parkin. His valuable, yet scarcely star, innings included eight 4's. Mailey fell in like fashion to a more clever catch, but Carter and McDonald proved troublesome, and the last wicket added 53 in thirty-five minutes. Carter batted for twenty minutes longer for his 46, displaying his customary cuteness in snicking and chopping the ball. Australia batted, in all, four hours and a quarter. Durston, with 4 for 102, was the most successful of the five bowlers. Although the innings was over at a quarter past one, there was no further play before lunch.

Resuming at a quarter past two, Gregory and McDonald, at the pavilion end, opened the visitors' attack, and in the former's second over Knight skied a short one, and was caught by Carter, an extremely poor stroke. Dipper and Woolley, however, displayed refreshing confidence, Armstrong having to take the ball at 38, and Hendry relieving McDonald. Woolley, then 36, offered apparently a low chance in the slips to Hendry. He reached 50 in eighty-five minutes, but then, with 96 on the board, lost Dipper, whose off stump was disturbed by a full pitch from McDonald. Hendren was not destined to give much trouble, being caught in slip off Mailey on reaching double figures, Carter first touching the ball. With Douglas in, the score by the tea interval had advanced to 140 for three wickets, Woolley claiming a fine 78, not out, of these. On resuming after twenty minutes, Mailey and Gregory bowled, and the arrears were wiped off, amid loud applause. Again, however, the Kentish professional was disappointed in completing a century, as, when seven short, he got under a bad ball from Mailey, lifting it on the on side to Hendry, who only secured it at the fifth attempt, falling and rolling over on the ground. It was another great display, extending over two hours and thirty-five minutes, and including a dozen 4's. Douglas left at the same figure, 165, making five out with only ten runs on, but Evans and Tennyson, two failures of Saturday, added 33. The latter received a let-off from Carter at the wicket before reaching double figures. Haig was bowled, his middle stump being knocked out of the ground, for a cypher, but Parkin stayed while Tennyson made merry. The Lancastrian fell to a skier at mid-off, and at the close the total stood at 243 for eight, or 88 runs on. Tennyson has batted for fifty-five minutes for his 44, not out, including half a dozen 4's, and England's innings has at present lasted a few minutes short of four hours. Score:—

KENT v. SUSSEX.

Only 89 runs behind Kent and six wickets in hand, Sussex commenced the second day's play with undisguised confidence, being heartened by Jupp's serviceable start on Saturday, when he was 101 not out. Unluckily for Sussex, Cox did not remain at the wicket long ere he was caught by Hubble, and Gilligan fared little better. Street made a stand, and Jupp, playing faultless cricket, increased his previous total to 139, when he was smartly caught by Seymour off Freeman. He made his runs in just under three hours, his innings, including seventeen 4's, three 3's, and thirteen 2's. After sixty minutes' play Sussex were dismissed for 264, giving Kent a lead of the narrow margin of 19 on the first innings. Kent started the second innings much the same as Saturday, Collins losing his wicket leg before to Tate after he had scored a single. Seymour, joining Hardinge, hit fours to leg freely, and, although Sussex put on eight bowlers, Seymour punished all, compiling 50 in just under an hour. At 36 Hardinge was dropped by Street, but he scored 115 stylishly until caught by Gilligan off Tate. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Sussex	264
Kent	283	405 (9 wkts.)

WORCESTERSHIRE v. GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

Worcester won their first match yesterday, defeating Gloucester, the only team they beat last season, by eight wickets. Early in the day, the last few Worcester batsmen played thoroughly good cricket, Ponsonby and Preece added 36 for the ninth wicket, Ponsonby contributing a timely 35, while Preece had a meritorious 31 to his credit. Gilbert made three good hits, and the total was 257, so that the home shire had the serviceable lead of 108. Gloucestershire started fairly well when they went in a second time, but at 59, 24 of which were extras, Smith was run out for the second time; but at lunch the total was 86 for 1. Bowles, who had to retire for a time, owing to being struck on the head by Gilbert, hit brilliantly, making his 66 in seventy minutes, mainly by the aid of two 6's and seven 4's; but Worcester were only left to make 127 to win, and although the wicket was a trifle worn the boundaries at Stourbridge are very easy. Bowley played splendid cricket, and his brilliant not out 78 included a 6 and fourteen 4's. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Worcestershire	257	127 (2 wkts.)
Gloucestershire	149	234

SOMERSET v. DERBYSHIRE.

Good progress was made at Bath yesterday, and Somerset secured well placed when a full day's play ended. Derbyshire, who had obtained 93 for 6 wickets on Saturday, added 30. Robson bowled admirably, taking 3 for 19 in nine overs in the morning. Somerset, with a 71 lead on the first innings, gave another fluctuating display. The soundest cricket was shown by Considine (37), who was batting seventy-five minutes. Half the side were out for 80, but Hope (31) hit hard, and caused cheers by sending Granger twice off successive balls over the spectators' heads, being subsequently caught near the boundary by Storer. Derbyshire were given 253 to get to win. Bestwick again bowling, and in an hour and three-quarters' batting they had lost five wickets for 72 runs. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Derbyshire	131	72 (5 wkts.)
Somerset	202	181

YORKSHIRE v. LEICESTERSHIRE.

With six wickets to fall in their second innings, Leicestershire still require 315 runs to avoid an innings defeat at Leeds. Yorkshire, who had made 325 for the loss of six wickets on Saturday, had twenty minutes more batting when play was resumed before the innings was declared with the total at 560, the venture having lasted five hours and 50 minutes. Rhodes altogether hit 30 fours in his not out 267, and Leyland made his first 50 in county cricket. The Leicestershire batsmen fared very badly, for, although Shipman and Middleton defended steadily, only Coe showed ability to make runs with any freedom. Coe played a hard-hitting innings for two hours, his 67 including 9 fours. The only partnership of note was between Coe and Shipman, which put on 61 in 85 minutes. Leicestershire followed on 406 behind, and did rather better, the score when stumps were drawn for the day being:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Yorkshire	*560 (6 wkts.)
Leicestershire	154	91 (4 wkts.)

* Innings declared.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY v. FREE FORESTERS.

As the result of play in this match at Cambridge yesterday, Free Foresters have to follow on 225 runs behind. Score:—

	1st Inns.
Cambridge University	*437 (9 wkts.)
Free Foresters	212

*Innings declared.

WARWICKSHIRE v. SURREY.

In this match, at Birmingham, Surrey are left the easy task to-day of getting 92 to win. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Warwickshire	140	298
Surrey	347	—

NOTTS v. LANCASHIRE.

At the close of some very interesting cricket at Trent Bridge yesterday Notts were in a splendid position, being 236 runs on with 9 wickets in hand. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Notts	395	100 (1 wkt.)
Lancashire	259

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE v. ESSEX.

With nine wickets in hand in their second innings, Northamptonshire still require 318 runs to avoid an innings' defeat. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Essex	*604 (7 wkts.)
Northants	361	65 (1 wkt.)

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE v. CASTLEKNOCK COLLEGE.

The Castleknock boys put up a good fight at Terenure Park, a useful University team defeating them by only 34 runs. Harrington was the principal run-getter for the winners. Going in second wicket, he was not out with 70 to his credit, hitting three 6's and seven 4's, and he found two useful partners for the last two wickets in Bloomer (20) and McEvoy (12). Kiernan bowled best for the boys, taking five wickets for 55, and Scannell had 2 for 22. Kiernan also batted best, as, going in first, he was eighth out, having been at the wicket about an hour and a half for 35, without giving the semblance of a chance. He drove and pulled splendidly, while his cutting was well timed. He hit three 6's and eleven 4's. Score:—

GOLF.

THE IRISH LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP MEETING.

The Committee of the Hermitage Club have everything in readiness for the Irish Ladies' Golf Championship, which begins to-day on their fine links at Lucan, but a little rain last week would have done the greens an immense amount of good. At the moment they are decidedly keen, and to their fiery condition yesterday must, in large measure, be attributed the high scoring returned in the preliminary stroke competition, with which the week's proceedings were ushered in. It was easy enough, owing to the run on the ball through the fairways, to get home in the regulation number, but to get the ball into the hole with the usual two putts from a few yards' range was a more difficult matter. Should similar conditions prevail to the end of the tourney unlooked for events may happen, but it is not likely that Miss Jackson's efforts to retain the title, which she has won four times in succession, will be seriously challenged in the first or second rounds at all events.

Yesterday's stroke competition, if the returns are to be regarded as a correct criterion, go to show that the holder's most formidable rivals are Miss French, Mrs. Barr, Mrs. McIntyre, and Miss Armstrong. Miss French certainly did very well to run the champion to three strokes for the leading award, although she took 5 at the first hole and 6 at the second. Miss Jackson, however, had her lapses also, her card being disfigured by 6's at the second, eleventh, and fourteenth, while she took 5 to the seventh. Mrs. Barr, who finished third, began badly with 6's at the second and third, while 7's went down at the sixth, eleventh and fourteenth. She, however, had an excellent 2 at the fourth, and 3 at the fifteenth. Mrs. McIntyre's 44 for the first nine included a sequence of 5's at the last five holes, and, but for requiring 7 at the eighteenth, she would have finished higher up. Four 6's on the way out spoiled Miss Armstrong's chances, and she took 6's also to the eleventh, fifteenth, and eighteenth, with a 7 at the fourteenth. Miss Jackson and Mrs. Barr had the best scores on the way out, both reaching the turn in 42, two strokes better than Miss French, Mrs. McIntyre, and Mrs. Morant. The leading returns were:—

Miss Jackson (Island)	86
Miss Stuart French (Cork)	89
Mrs. Warner Barr (Hermitage)	90
Mrs. F. L. McIntyre (Sutton)	92
Miss Armstrong (Rosslare)	93
Mrs. Morant (Hermitage)	95
Mrs. Claude Gotto (Castlerock)	95
Mrs. Marjorie Scully (Foxrock)	95

"Cheque must accompany order."

The Bonds are all correctly stamped and are a "good delivery" on the London Market.

Before the war German Three per cents stood at 74.

We think it is a safe bet to say Germany will be the first of the war nations (after little Belgium, perhaps) to recover the pre-war position. Her people are working like bees, as returned travellers phrase it, and her return to normal prosperity will probably be as astonishing as the recovery of France after the war of 1870-71.

As the German workman is producing more real wealth per day than his British confrere, Germany's place in the betting is a mere matter of arithmetic.

Despite all the chaos around us German Threes have attractions as a speculative lock-up that no British stock possesses.

If desired, the Bonds can be retained by us for safe custody at your disposal, and you can hold our stamped contract with the numbers of the Bonds clearly stated.

These Bearer Bonds are a portion of the issues made between the years 1892 and 1909, so in buying to-day you do nothing to help the German Government—that, of course, is not our object or yours.

They are like a Bank Note, but they have coupons attached which you cut off each half-year and collect through your Bank, or if you take our advice you will let those coupons accumulate for four years, because each coupon is valid for that period, and in the meantime the rate of exchange should improve, or you may be going to Berlin one day, and these coupons will pay your expenses.

There is no name on a Bearer Bond, whoever holds them is supposed to be the owner of them (as with a Bank of England Note).

Up to the present Germany has paid interest on her Loans, and unless something very unforeseen happens, she will always continue to pay such interest.

Before the War the Mark was worth here about 20 to the £ sterling, approximately it was worth a shilling—to-day that Mark is worth about a penny, say 240 Marks to the £ instead of 20 Marks.

This state of affairs cannot last for ever, and if you buy to-day at current price a German Bond of 2,000 Marks (pre-war equivalent £100) you are at a very small outlay buying an option on Germany's financial recovery.

If, as we anticipate, you sell these Bonds at a substantial profit within the next few years, the gain will represent your portion of the Indemnity in a very tangible form, and you will have the satisfaction of knowing that the Germans have been working for your benefit.

The coupons are attached, payable either April and October, or July and January—some of the Bonds are of one sort and some are of the other sort, but they are all of equal value.

It is advisable to keep these coupons with a view to an improvement in the rate of Exchange of the Mark, but if desired, the interest can be collected by cutting off the coupon on the due dates, and passing same through the Bank like a cheque, or to us if you like.

As the Mark is so low in value in this Country at present, the interest collected on each Bond is only a small amount.

We are prepared to collect the interest if coupons are sent on to us, but we think it advisable to point out that neither we nor Bankers can undertake this service without making a charge, and at the present time this cost is out of proportion to the amount collected.

At the foot of the sheet of coupons attached to each bond will be found a long form of "Talon." This talon is the voucher which entitles the Bond holder to a fresh supply of interest coupons when the others have all been used. It should be sent through Bankers to be exchanged for more coupons at the same time as the last coupon is presented for payment.

We have never recommended gambling in foreign currency but to buy scrip with interest accruing all the time is a very different matter.

The chief cause of the low price over here is the price of the Mark.

The value of the Sovereign and the value of the Mark depends entirely on the industry of the nation.

COATS BETTER. BLEACHERS LOWER. MARCONI WEAKNESS.

A quiet, dull market was continued on 'Change yesterday, with light fluctuations and little desire to do business almost at any point, with here and there a little additional sale pressure not always apparent in quotations. The dulness of War Loan 5 p.c. was the only point of interest in Government Funds, but a fair business was also done in Exchequer and National War Bonds of the 1928-9 series. National Bank shares were harder, but dulness was shown for Guinness Ordinary. Power Pref. were on sale also. Weakness was continued for all Marconi issues on less favourable dividend estimates. The Ord. were sold down to 44s. 6d., and the "Marines" were called sellers about 26s. 3d. Home Rails marked time, with practically no alteration. Parent Tyres and Dunlop Rubbers were neglected, but closed quiet about last markings. Textiles were irregular, with Coats and Spinners better, and Bleachers easier. White Tomkins fell away. Mexican Eagle Oils gave way smartly, but Shells held firm.

The Funds were mostly irregular, with War Loan 5 p.c. weak, and finally 1/16 lower at 87⅝, after opening at 87⅞. Consols rallied ⅛ to 45⅜, but India 3½ p.c. fell ⅛ to 56¼.

The only change in Banks was a rise of ⅛ to 17 in Nationals. Hibernians were steady at 5¼, and Munster and Leinsters at 5⅛.

Dealing in Breweries was confined to Guinness Ord., which fell 1/16 to 38⅜. John Power and Son Pref. closed sellers at last price, 21s. 3d.

Marconis were on offer. The Ord. fell 1s. 9d. further, to 44s. 6d.

Home Rails closed steady with a fair amount of quotations, and the only change a fall of ⅛ to 33⅜ in Midland Great Western 4 p.c. Pref. Stock. Athenry and Tuam Extension to Claremorris £10 Baronial fell ½ to 4½.

Gas and Drapery shares were unaltered, but in Bakery shares Johnston Ord. fell 1/16 to 3 3/16.

As regards Manufacturing shares, Coats Ord. rose 1s. to 47s. 6d., the Pref. 1/16 to 9⅜, and Spinners 3d. to 34s. 6d., while Bleachers fell 1s. 4½d. to 30s. 1½d., and White Tomkins 1s. 6d. to 17s. 6d.

Trading, etc., show no change. Mexican Eagle Oil fell ⅜ to 6⅛, and Shells closed unaltered at 5⅝, after being 5⅞.

BELFAST.

Exchange was fairly active yesterday. War Loan Fives were slightly lower at 87⅝. Northern Banking Co. "A" were weak at 4 1/16; the "B" shares were also lower at 2. London City and Midland brought £6 13s. 10½d. Great Northern Railway declined ¼ to 54⅛. Among Industrials, Coats Ord. steady at 46s. 9d. John Milligen and Co. repeated 25s. British American Tobacco Ord. 67s. 9d. Dunlop Rubber declined 3d. to 10s. 6d. Mexican Eagles were marked 6 5/16, and later 6⅛. Shell Transport brought 5⅜.

DEPRESSED STOCKS.

GLUT OF INVESTMENT ISSUES AND NO PUBLIC DEMAND.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Such influences as operated in the Stock Markets yesterday were of a depressing sort, and the result was seen in a general dulness—more marked even than at the week-end. No evidence appeared of any revival of public interest in the markets, and dealers were inclined to question whether even a settlement of the strike would improve the tone. Brokers noticed for the first time the effects of the new postal regulations, by which Sunday collections were discontinued, and though accumulations of week-end orders have not been seen for some weeks past, yesterday's early posts were more meagre than ever. It is thought that when a recovery in markets does eventually take place the effect of the "no Sunday collections" rule will be to make Tuesday the big day on the Exchange. A cause operating in the investments section to depress business, and to a certain extent in other groups, is the glut of Gilt-edged and Trustee Stocks, which the past week has seen forced upon the markets, and which the two new Australian State loans completed. With the public in its present state of apathy, there is not the demand even for investment stocks in such abundance, while dealers have passed their limit of capacity to take the new issues. For these reasons members yesterday questioned whether the two new Australian loans would be a success. The effect of the indigestion from which the markets are suffering was seen in a general decline in practically all gilt-edged features, while recent issues of the other trustee stocks were also depressed. It is stated on good authority that as a result of the present position no further Corporation issues will now be made until the late summer.

LONDON STOCKS APATHETIC.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

On the London Stock Exchange the markets were apathetic to a degree, and business was of a most disappointing character. Everybody is waiting for developments, hoping that they will follow in the trail of a settlement of the industrial troubles. Many people express the view that there will be a settlement, but few have the courage to back their opinion by buying stocks. There is little doubt that recent newcomers and the prospect of more in the near future have had a depressing effect on existing gilt-edged securities, where prices again tended in the downward direction. The 5 per cent. War Loan further receded to 87 7/16, while Consols were barely steady at 45⅜, and Victory Bonds dull at 77⅞, while Funding Loan was ⅛ lower at 71⅜. The Conversion Loan was 62⅞, and India Scrip fell to 2 prem. National War Bonds of 1927 fell back to 97⅛. There was comparatively little change in the various latest Corporation issues. Readings were ¼ and Derby ½ prem., while Newport were ½ discount.

Among Foreign Government securities, German Threes were unchanged at 6¼, while the 3½ per cent. were 5⅞. French Bonds were steady, the Fours being 33¼ and the Fives 43⅛. Japanese 4½ per cent. were unchanged, both the first and second series being 115. Mexicans in the absence of news showed a reactionary tendency. The Fives declined to 60⅛, the Sixes to 57¼, and the Fours to 47¼. Brazilians were weaker and lower on the cessation of buying in New York.

Home Rails were heavy on lack of support, and prices gave way in some directions. Midlands were 44½ and Great Westerns 68⅛. Dover "A" was dull at 22⅛, Brighton "A" at 41, and Yorkshire at 26⅛, but Underground Electrics were maintained. Great Central Pref. was easier at 10, while Great Eastern were ¼ higher at 28⅛.

"Canpacs" were 2 points higher at 147. Renewed support was given to Grand Trunk Guaranteed. The price, however, was unchanged at the close. There was little further change in Grand Trunk Pacific Sectional Bonds. Mexicans were neglected, but Argentines were fairly firm, with Westerns and "B.A.G.S." at 54. Centrals were 49⅛ and Pacifics 36⅛. Antofagasta remained at 52, and San Paulos at 121⅛.

INDUSTRIALS STILL IRREGULAR.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The opening of a fresh week in the Industrial and Miscellaneous market brought with it little or no accumulation of business, and a slightly irregular trend still prevailed, although a hopeful view of to-morrow's ballot found expression in the marking up of a few Coal Shares. Textiles were steady. The more cheerful view entertained regarding the outcome of the miners' strike imparted a better tone to some of the Coal Shares, and it needed but a modest inquiry to lift quotations. Thus Powell Duffryn moved up 1/16 to 1⅛, North's Navigation were 6d. better at 7s., and D. Davis gained 3d. at 8s. The Iron and Steel market was, however, not materially influenced, and prices for the most part remained at the previous levels. Ebbw Vales managed to put on 6d. to 16s., but Chinese Engineering were offered, and fell 1/16 to 1⅛, and Sheffield Steel lost 1½d. at 8s. 6d. Bengal Iron remained at 1½. Pease and Partners at 27s. 6d., and Vickers at 13s. 3d. Shipping issues were dull for choice, and, apart from a small improvement in Elder Dempster 5½ p.c. to 15s. 3d., changes were against holders. P. and O. Def. dropped 5 to 330, Furness Withy 6d. down at 23s., and Cunards lost 3d. at 18s. 9d. Sales of Western Counties by nervous holders reduced the price to 1s. 3d. There was a fair business passing in Bank shares, but sellers predominated, and most of the movements were downwards, the only exception being Bank of New South Wales, which rose ½ to 29, and Colonials, where a gain of ¼ was recorded at 6⅛. National of India dropped 1½ to 37, Hong Kong and Shanghai 1 to 93, and London Brazilian ¼ to 18⅛. Chartered of India fell ¼ to 14⅛, and small shrinkages were shown in Barclays B at 43s. and Lloyds at 47s. 3d. Among Insurance securities, North British lost a point at 45, Royal Insurance were down ¼ at 78, and United British dropped ¼ to 2⅛. In a Canadian-American group the tendency was downward. Brazilian Traction eased to 34. Dominion Steel lost 2 at 35¼, and Colombia Gas were also 2 lower at 72⅛. Cities Services dropped to 205 for the reason mentioned above. The only change in Electric Lighting Shares was a rise of 1s. in Calcutta Electric Supply to 2½. As regards Telegraphs, there were some offerings of the Marconi issues on fears as to the forthcoming dividend announcement. Marconi Ord. eased the turn to 2 7/16, while the Pref. were 1/16 down at 2¼. Anglo-American Canadians lost 3d. at 7s. 9d. In the general list, British Def. fell ¼ to 7⅛. In the general list, British Oil and Cakes were bid up at the commencement, changing hands up to 28s., but reacted to 27s. 3d., at which they were 6d. down on the day. Raphael Tuck dropped 1/16 to 4⅞, while small Welsbach Ord. were 1/16 lower at ⅞, while small losses were marked in English Electric at 12s. 3d., Portland Cement Pref. at 14s., and Crosse and Blackwell Ord. at 11s. 3d., but British Glass rose 6d. to 3s. 6d. Vauxhall Motors dropped 6d. to 9s. Among Catering Shares, Lyons were a good market and 1/16 higher at 4 13/16. Van den Berghs gained 1/16 at 1⅛, but A.B.C. dropped 1/16 to 1 1/16. Brewery issues were unaltered. In Tobaccos Shares, Imperial of Canada were 1½d. higher at 17s. 4½d., whereas United reacted ⅛ to 4⅛. Textiles remained steady pending the outcome of the negotiations regarding the Labour trouble, and Drapery and kindred shares were also without alteration. Land descriptions were irregular. Forestal Land advanced 6d. to 24s. 6d., and Pekins were up to a like extent to 15s. 6d., but Hudsons Bays were lowered 1/16 to 6 11/16. Nitrates were still undecided, and Alianza lost ½ at 14, but Tarapaca left off 6d. higher at 11s. 6d.

MINING MARKET FEATURELESS.

WEEK OPENS IN UNPROPITIOUS STYLE. WITH BUSINESS ON A SMALL SCALE.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The week-end brought no improvement in Stock Exchange conditions, and business yesterday was again at a very low ebb. The news regarding the miners' dispute seemed to indicate that no decision could be arrived at before Friday next, while the attention of the sporting fraternity both inside and outside the "House" is concentrated upon the result of the Test Match and the racing at Ascot. Speculative departments consequently continued to suffer from neglect, and, as regards the Mining departments, Kaffirs were not helped by the publication of the Rand output and labour statistics for May. The gold output showed a distinct falling off, for even allowing for the shorter month, the daily average was 527 oz. lower, while the estimated value per oz. is less than for the preceding month. The native labour situation is not satisfactory, the number of boys employed at the end of the month being only 186,407, as against 189,050. The market, however, was indifferent both to these figures and also to a drop of 7d. to £5 10s. 5d. per oz. in the price of gold, and transactions were on a trifling scale, as may be seen from the list of movements recorded below. Closing prices:—

OIL SHARE MARKET LOWER.

FALL IN EAGLES.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Lack of interest on the part of the investing public was clearly indicated by the small accumulation of orders over the week-end, while professionals appear to have become apathetic. No particular pressure to sell was encountered, but at the same time any shares coming on the market were difficult to place, with the result that quotations steadily declined. Paris was reported as idle, as far as Oil Shares were concerned, as the market here, and practically no business was done on behalf of that centre. Although the usual group of dealers assembled in the street, hardly a share was mentioned, and the unofficial market dispersed at an early hour. The weakest spot among the leaders was Mexican Eagle, which opened slightly below Friday's level, and steadily fell away in the absence of business, the final quotation showing an appreciable decline. The new shares and Prefs. weakened in sympathy. Transactions in Shells were of little importance, these shares also closing lower, while shrinkages occurred in Royal Dutch and Burmahs. A feature in the Trinidad group was the weakness of Centrals, which were on offer throughout the day, and left off substantially lower, while an easier tendency was noticeable in Leaseholds and United British. Kern Rivers were dull, lower prices ruling for both the old and new shares. Russians were neglected, the only quotable alteration recorded being a decline in North Caucasians. In other directions Scottish-Americans were freely offered, and gave way sharply, but a recovery occurred in Var Oil. Closing prices:—

RUBBER SHARES DULL.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The idleness in the Rubber share market was as pronounced as ever, and there was scarcely a movement calling for special mention. Anglo-Dutch were unchanged at 24s. 9d., but Rubber Trusts were 3d. lower at 16s. Linggis were 26s. 3d. and Vallambrosas 10s. 6d. Anglo-Malay were only 19s.

THE MONEY MARKET.

Bank Rate (changed April 28th, 1921) ... 6½ p.c.

CONDITIONS EASY.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

In London there was little development of interest in the money or discount market. Supplies of floating credits remained plentiful, and after the usual renewals at 4½ per cent. fresh money was obtainable at 4 per cent. down to 3½ per cent. The discount market, too, was featureless, and the banks were not doing much. Some people were inclined to ask 5¼ per cent. for second-hand Treasury Bills, but they were seldom successful in getting a better rate than 5⅜ per cent. Commercial bill rates were in all cases unaltered.

Bank Rate (Discount) changed April 28, 1921				6½%

The price of gold fell 7d. to 110s. 5d. per oz. Bar silver was unaltered for both cash and forward delivery at 35⅛d. and 35⅛d. per oz. respectively. The Continent was a seller, but speculators bought, and the market was uncertain.

In Foreign exchanges, New York was against us to the extent of 2 cents, that being the drop at the close of public business. That lifted the quotations of Paris and Brussels cheques, and the German rate responded. Italian lire, on the other hand, appreciated. Paris cheque, by the way, fluctuated between 47.05 and 47.45, without any definite tendency. The Greek situation has, somewhat curiously, been followed by a small improvement in the value of drachmae. The Portuguese escudo continues its improvement.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

ROBINSON DEEP.—Dividend of 2/- per share on "A" Shares.

AYGOOD OTIS, LTD.—Pref. dividend of 9 per cent.

VICTORIA DWELLINGS.—Dividend of 2 per cent., less tax, payable June 30.

NEW CAPE CENTRAL RAILWAY.—Dividend of 4 per cent. on Shares of first, second, third, and fourth issues.

BARRENECHEA NITRATE.—Further dividend of 35 per cent., less tax, making 50 per cent. for the year.

PLATT BROS. AND CO., TEXTILE MACHINISTS.—Final dividend of 17½ per cent. on Ordinary, making 20 per cent. for the year.

JAVA INVESTMENT LOAN AND AGENCY.—Dividend at rate of 4 per cent., less tax, on account of the year ended 31st March.

SEREMBAN RUBBER.—Owing to uncertainty of the future, directors, with greatest regret, feel unable to recommend even a small dividend, but propose that profit of £18,377 be carried forward.

JOHN SOMERVILLE AND CO.—Net profit of John Somerville and Co. for year to 31st March, 1921 was £29,083. Directors recommend a dividend on Preference Shares for three years ended March, 1917.

RICHARDSONS, WESTGARTH, AND CO.—Two years' dividends on Pref. in addition to one year's dividend paid in December last. The Pref. dividend will then have been paid up to April 30, 1919.

MERSEY INVESTMENT TRUST.—Report for year ended March 31st discloses profit, including £4,407 brought forward, of £17,697. The investment reserve account is brought up to £10,000 by allocation of £4,605, and dividend of 8 per cent. is proposed, leaving £2,643 to carry forward.

ALLDAYS AND ONIONS.—Profit for year to July, 1920, was £7,111. Directors feel that they are acting in best interest of shareholders in allocating such profit, together with reserves appearing in previous balance sheet, for purpose of meeting depreciation and writings off. It has been found during past year that financial condition of country rendered it advisable to postpone raising of capital until a more favourable opportunity presents itself. It will, however, be necessary, in order that business of company may be established on a satisfactory basis, that additional capital be raised, and time directors have this point under serious consideration.

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

ASCOT, MONDAY NIGHT.

At the time of writing the situation here, from a weather point of view, has undergone no change, and, stormy as the outlook is this afternoon, the greatly-needed rain has yet to make its appearance. Therefore, we must prepare ourselves for further disappointments, consequent upon the possible withdrawals of well-reported two-year-olds from engagements made for them. Hebrides, one of the Beckhampton juvenile stars, now waits for Thursday, in the hope that rain will have materialised by then. Otherwise, he may not be started at all this week. It is understood that Periosteum will miss the Vase in favour of the race for the Gold Cup, and Lemonora does not run for the Prince of Wales' Stakes, while Craig-an-Eran waits for the St. James's Palace Stakes. The Ascot Stakes may not attract the big field it was expected to do, but King's Idler is likely to attempt to follow up his Newbury success. Spearworth runs for Leach in preference to Mount Royal, and is fancied. Wildfellow is to be backed I hear, also Thealby. Redhead, withdrawn from the Newbury Cup through the hard ground, will be hard to beat if started to-morrow, but I shall leave an open issue to and expect Redhead or Air Balloon to be placed. Other races may result as follows:—

CHAT TOR,

Trial Stakes—Leighton; if absent, Roman Bachelor.

Coventry Stakes—Polyhistor.

Gold Vase—Bracket.

Prince of Wales' Stakes—Gauntley.

Queen Mary Stakes—J. S. Joel's selected.

Churchill Stakes—Abbot's Trace; if absent, Braishfield.

MOTOR CYCLING.

TOURIST TROPHY RACES.

IRELAND'S REPRESENTATIVE.

DOUGLAS, MONDAY.

To-morrow (Tuesday) the first of the two motor cycle Tourist Trophy Races will be held, when the Junior event will be decided over a distance of 188¾ miles in the Isle of Man. Preliminary arrangements were completed this afternoon, when the competing machines were presented for examination and weighing. Of the 64 entries, only one failed to put in an appearance, the exception being the Hawker, which was to have been ridden by its entrant, H. G. Hawker, the celebrated aviator, who as manufacturer and rider, has taken to the sport with the same enthusiasm that marked his career as a flying man. The entry is the biggest that has ever been received for the Junior race, and falls but three short of the Senior event, which will be decided on Thursday.

Although the division of the competing machines into senior and junior classes, with a capacity limit of 500 and 350 cubic centimetres, respectively, marks, in a rough and ready manner, the segregation of the machines into big and little ones, to-morrow's race is really a double event, in that the offer of special awards for machines with engines not exceeding 250 cubic centimetres has produced an entry of twenty of these machines. None of these miniatures can hope to win the trophy, but they should provide an interesting race amongst themselves. All of these fly-weights, as the Auto-Cycle Union prefers to call them, have single cylinder engines, but in the 350 class approximately one-half of the engines are twins. Popular opinion expects the overhead valve A.J.S. to repeat its win of last year, and, should a surprise come, the Douglas stable will probably provide it. But luck enters so largely into the contest that anticipatory speculation is idle.

Ireland has but a single representative in tomorrow's race, R. Humphreys, who forms one of the Velocette team of three. He will start with the handicap of a slightly sprained wrist, sustained in practice.

CROQUET.

IRISH CHAMPIONSHIPS.

The annual tournament of the Croquet Association for the Championships of Ireland was concluded on the lawns of the Carrickmines Croquet and Lawn Tennis Club on Saturday last. ... very interesting games decided. Mr. B. Willington beat Dr. W. ... Pim in the final, and becomes champion of Ireland. Mrs. R. ... took the ladies' championship ... Mr. S. A. W. Waters won the handicap singles, and, in partnership with Dr. Pim, also won in the handicap doubles.

BILLIARDS.

INMAN v. SMITH.

At the start of the final day's play ... the scores ... —Inman, 7,301; Smith, ... Interval scores—Inman ... ; Smith, 6,243. Inman averaged 38, and Smith 35.

A 5-GUINEA BURBERRY

NEEDS EXPLANATION

Nearing the end of the War, Burberrys had grave doubts whether their own Mills would be able to keep up sufficient supplies of their Airylight Gabardines to meet the unprecedented call for their World-famous Weatherproof.

THE BURBERRY

To provide against such a contingency an order was placed with another manufacturer for a cloth made to the same specification, but the necessity for falling back on this reserve did not arise.

FORTUNATELY

the order was placed before any serious rise took place in the markets, which enables Burberrys to make this very special offer for its disposal. The material is similar to the standard cloth, but piece-proofed, not yarn-proofed.

Until this stock is exhausted, the price will be for this particular

IMPORTANT TO DAIRY OWNERS, GRAZIERS, Etc.
ATTRACTIVE SALE IN FOUR LOTS OF PRIME FATTENING FARMS, WITH COMFORTABLE TWO-STOREY SLATED DWELLINGHOUSE, OUT-OFFICES, AND TWO COTTAGES.
FOREST, BALLYMUN, GLASNEVIN,
ONLY 4 MILES FROM DUBLIN.

P. O'CONNOR and SON are favoured with instructions from the Owner to SELL BY AUCTION, at their Estate Salerooms, 49 QUEEN STREET, DUBLIN, on THURSDAY NEXT, 16th JUNE, at 1.30 o'clock, all the Estate and Interest in above Prime Farms, in 4 Lots, as follows:—

LOT 1—33a. 2r. 27p., Statute measure, with dwellinghouse and out-offices, held subject to the moderate Judicial Rent of £74 1s. 2d.

LOT 2—47a. 2r. 35p., Statute measure, held subject to Judicial Rent of £58 6s. 7d.

LOT 3—33a. 1r. 16p., Statute measure, held subject to Judicial Rent of £42 6s. 6d. There are two neat two-storey Cottages on this lot.

LOT 4—12 Acres, Statute—Lands of Forest called Pickardstown Fields, held in Fee-simple, subject to terminable Land Commission annuity of £15 15s. 4d.

DESCRIPTIVE PARTICULARS.

These Lands are situate about 2½ miles from the Tram Terminus at Glasnevin, and only 4 miles from Dublin. They are of prime fattening quality, exceptionally well watered, and fenced in nice-sized divisions. On Lot 1 (which is in hands) there is a neat, compact two-storey Residence, containing 3 bedrooms, diningroom, sittingroom, kitchen (close range), pantry, and dairy, all in excellent order. There are also compact Out-offices, with enclosed yard and haggard, large four-bay corrugated iron hay shed, and neat garden and lawn, most suitable to the requirements of this lot. On Lot 3 there are two neat two-storey Cottages and Out-offices.

All the lots are in grass of prime fattening quality, and are in keen demand each year for dairying and grazing purposes, and from their proximity to the city should prove a most lucrative investment.

A Caretaker will show the lands to intending purchasers on production of an order from the Auctioneers.

By previous arrangement with the Vendor's Solicitors, portion of the purchase money may remain outstanding at a reasonable rate of interest.

For all further particulars apply to
Messrs. O'NEILL and COLLINS, Solicitors having Carriage, 43 Lower Sackville street; or to the Auctioneers.

P. O'CONNOR and SON are favoured with instructions from James Fagan, Esq., to SELL BY AUCTION, at their ESTATE SALEROOMS, 49 QUEEN STREET, DUBLIN, on THURSDAY, 23rd JUNE, at 1.30 o'clock, all the Interest in the above Prime Farm, in 4 Lots, as follows:—

LOT 1—Part of the Lands of Clondoogan, containing 44a. 1r. 27p., Statute measure, or thereabouts, being part of the Lands comprised in Folio 174, County Meath, held in Fee-simple, free of all rent. This Lot will be Sold subject to a rent of £27 8/4 per annum.

LOT 2—Part of the Lands of Clondoogan, containing 36a. 2r. 5p., Statute measure, or thereabouts, being other part of the Lands comprised in Folio 174, County Meath, held in Fee-simple, free of all rent. This Lot will be Sold subject to a rent of £16 7/3 per annum.

LOT 3—Part of the Lands of Clondoogan, containing 26a. 1r. 12p., Statute measure, or thereabouts, being other part of the Lands comprised in Folio 174, County Meath, held in Fee-simple, free of all rent. This Lot will be Sold subject to a rent of £16 4/10 per annum.

LOT 4—Part of the Lands of Clondoogan, containing 28a. 3r. 12p., Statute measure, or thereabouts, being other part of the Lands comprised in Folio 174, County Meath, held in Fee-simple, free of all rent. This Lot will be Sold subject to a rent of £17 15/10 per annum.

DESCRIPTIVE PARTICULARS.

These Lands are situate about 1 mile from Summerhill, where important Fairs are held; 5 miles from Kilcock Railway Station, and 19 miles from Dublin. They are of good quality, well watered, and produce excellent crops. On Lot 1 there is a newly-built 2-storey slated Dwellinghouse, with iron-roofed Out-offices, pump, enclosed yard, and neat garden. About 10 Irish Acres are under 2nd Crop and Old Meadow. There is a large area of valuable turbary on this Lot.

Lot 2, which also adjoins the main road, comprises about 8 Irish Acres under barley and new meadows of most promising appearance, the remainder being in grass of excellent quality.

Portion of Lot 3 is under crops of barley and new meadow, and also includes a considerable quantity of turbary, adjoining the main road.

Lot 4 is all in Prime Old Pasture, and is well watered and fenced.

DUBLIN SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

At the weekly meeting of the Committee of the Dublin Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (Incorporated) Mr. William Perrin presided. The following were also present:—Mrs. Betham, Mrs. Darley, Mrs. Power O'Donoghue, Miss Hillas, Major Arthur Whewell, Mr. J. Paterson, J.P.; Mr. G. W. Ledwich, Mr. J. P. Butler, J.P.; Mr. W. H. Wilkinson, M.R.C.V.S.; Dr. S. T. Gordon, F.R.C.P.I., Mr. Reginald H. Keatinge, O.B.E., J.P.

Fourteen cases of cruelty were reported by the inspectors during the week. Nine are to be summoned and five to be cautioned. The list of convictions obtained during the week in court was reported and read. The reports on dogs sold and claimed at the Dogs' Home, Grand Canal quay, during the week were submitted. The minutes of the Dogs' and Cats' Home Committee of 30th ulto. were read, approved, and signed.

The Committee had under consideration complaints regarding the driving of cattle long distances to and from the markets. They trust that the owners of cattle, particularly butchers, will assist the Society in their efforts to prevent cruelty by providing carts to accompany cattle and sheep, particularly in bringing young animals.

The following contributions were thankfully acknowledged—viz.:—Miss F. L. Connor, £1; Mrs. W. G. Poulter, 10/-; Miss J. Ogilvy, £1 5/-; A. Lovesy, Esq., 2/6; D. O'C. Donelan, Esq., £1; Lady Chapman, £2.

MARKET REPORTS.

CATTLE.

BIRKENHEAD, Monday.—Supplies—1,000 cattle and 3,000 sheep and lambs. Practically no demand for cattle. Where sales could be effected best quality bullocks and heifers made around 15d.; other sorts correspondingly lower. No demand for bulls and cows. Sheep and lambs much in excess of demand, and owing to existing restrictions very little business moving. Top quotation for best lambs 21d. per lb. in sink. No trade for sheep. Dressed beef met fair trade; Irish sides 13½d. to 14½d. Limited supply of American beef made up to 14½d. per lb.

LONDON, Monday.—Larger supply of fat cattle, the majority being Norfolk box-feds of fair quality. Trade was slow, but firm at last week's rates, first quality shorthorns averaging 11/6, and second quality 10/8 to 11/- per stone of 8lbs. Fat sheep were shown in smaller numbers, consisting chiefly of Lincolnshire, Hertfordshire, and Hampshire clips, only a few Norfolks being penned. Trade was very slow, only the choicest lightweight Downs being in demand, and these realised 20d. per lb. Second quality animals were 1d. per lb. lower on the week, averaging 16d. to 17d. per lb. Fat lambs also met a slow trade, prices declining all round, and the best quality making from 25d. to 26d., and second quality 21d. to 23d. per lb. Numbers in the market—Cattle 246, sheep and lambs 2,271.

GLASGOW, Monday.—Haggarty and Kelly's Report—Small supplies of Irish cattle at Merklands to-day (Monday). Owing to large arrivals of American cattle demand was very slow for all classes at reduced rates. Irish lambs a small show, and in sharp request at satisfactory prices.—(Advt.)

HULL, Monday.—Supplies much lower than last week. Trade brisk, fair prices realised: 226 fat beasts, 41 stores, 1,430 fat sheep, 432 stores. Poor show pigs. Best beef, 21/-; seconds, 20/-; cows, 18/-; small sheep, 1/9; lambs, 1/6; ewes, 1/3; lambs dearer at 2/6. Little pigs, 20/-; others cheaper.

GRAIN.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES.—BALTIC, Monday.—WHEAT firmly held as regards free cargoes. Government quotations advanced 1/- per qr. for all descriptions, with the exception of Argentine and Australian, these being unaltered. Barusso 62lbs. just shipped 83/6 sellers, Pacific Aug. 15th-Sept. 71/-, No. 1 Northern Manitoba July-Aug. 81/-, No. 2 hard winter ditto 72/- per 480lbs.; Manchurian June-July £17 per ton. PROVISIONS.

LONDON, Monday.—BUTTER—Demand quiet, and still centred on the better selections; prices irregular. Finest Dutch 198/- to 202/-, Australian 172/- to 176/-, Irish creameries 186/- to 200/-, factories 160/- to 164/-, Canadian 155/- to 155/-, New Zealand 194/- to 198/-, Argentine 154/- to 170/-. CHEESE—Market remains dull, and prices easy. Dutch in small supply. Canadian coloured 100/- to 106/-, New Zealand white 104/- to 108/-, coloured 106/- to 112/-, English (new) factory 108/- to 112/-, Australian coloured 95/- to 98/-. Dutch finest farmers' Edam 148/- to 150/-, ditto fine 128/- to 134/-, inferior 116/- to 118/-, Gouda finest 126/- to 144/-, fine 114/- to 118/-, inferior 106/- to 108/-, United States 98/- to 100/-. BACON—Freshly landed American in moderate request, while Continental sides move off freely. Irish 150/- to 177/-, Danish 165/- to 177/-, Swedish 165/- to 172/-, Dutch 170/-, Canadian 105/- to 140/-. English cut bellies box 104/- to 112/-. American Wiltshire cut 85/- to 105/-, ditto Canadian cured 85/- to 105/-. HAMS—English and American short cuts in demand, but American long cut slow. York and Cumberland 2/3 to 2/6, American long cut green 134/- to 136/-, ditto short cut 138/- to 144/-, shoulders square 108/-, picnics 94/- to 96/-. LARD in fair support at steady rates. Irish 55/- to 75/-, American 74/- to 76/6, American pails 76/6 to 77/-. EGGS firmer, with a steady trade passing. English new laid 26/- to 28/-. Dutch all brown 25/6 to 26/6, best mixed 23/- to 24/-. Irish hen 23/6 to 24/-, duck 24/-. Styrian blues 20/- to 21/-, Russian 20/- to 21/-, Danish 18lbs. 26/- to 27/-, 16lbs. 24/6 to 25/-.

LIVERPOOL, Monday.—The steadier feeling in American BACON is becoming more pronounced under the influence of higher quotations from packers and the advance in sterling exchange, which causes sellers to be more reserved, while more disposition is shown by buyers to operate. American Wiltshires and Cumberlands meet an improved inquiry, and bellies move fairly into consumption, though long clears and backs are not much sought after, the disturbed condition of Ireland restricting demand for these. Canadian Wiltshires of medium and light weights are in fair request at higher prices, owing to the scarcity of Irish and Continental, but heavy averages are difficult to find, and move or less nominal. HAMS extremely scarce and dearer for short cut, which are in good demand, and long cut in consequence attract more attention at higher prices. Shoulders difficult to obtain, a few picnics realising 94/- to 96/- per cwt., with squares and New Yorks fully maintaining late rates. LARD on the spot continues to be sparingly offered, and with a good demand and higher c.i.f. rates, prices are fully 1/- per cwt. over Saturday's figure. CHEESE again moves fairly, but holders are less willing in view of the better market, at more ... BUTTER remains quiet at late prices. EGGS in only moderate request, and Irish hen rule in favour of buyers.

PATRICK KEHOE, Ltd., Irish Bacon Curers and Lard Refiners, Importers of American Provisions. (Estd. 100 Years.)—103 FRANCIS ST., DUBLIN. —(Advt.)

REFINED LARD FUTURES.—LIVERPOOL, Monday.—Higher quotations and a set-back in sterling exchange rates caused a strong feeling here at the opening, when prices showed 1s. 3d. per cwt. advance. 2s. 6d. advance had been realised, though part of the advance was lost on profittaking, though 2s. over Saturday was registered at the finish. July sold from 74s. 3d. to 75s. 3d. and back to 74s. 9d., September 74s. 6d. to 75s. and 74/6, and October 74/- per cwt. for cash, and 3s. 6d. ... ... 3s. 3d. ... at 75/3 and 75/- per cwt.

DUBLIN VEGETABLE, Monday.—Fairly very limited supplies of seasonable vegetables on offer today, which easily cleared. York cabbage, 20/- to 25/- to 58/- per load; salad, 1/10 per dozen; scallions, 1/3 per bundle; cauliflowers, 5/6 to 6/6 per dozen.

DUBLIN FISH, Monday.—Small offerings of fish on market—namely, 1 chest lobsters, 33 packages salmon, and 40 barrels herrings. There was also a sprinkling of fish from country boats. Prices average:—Salmon, 1/- to 1/9 per lb.; grilse, 1/- to 1/6; large lobsters, 15/- to 20/- per dozen, seconds, 10/- to 12/6, and smalls, 5/- to 7/6 per 12; large soles, 20/- to 35/-; mediums, 10/- to 15/-, and slips, 5/- to 7/6 per 9 pairs; plaice, per 4 and 8, 6/- to 8/-; herrings, 10/- per box; turbot, 1/- to 10/- each; brill, 6d. to 4/-; plaice, per half-box, 30/- to 40/-.

BILLINGSGATE FISH, Monday.—Supply fair; demand quiet. Salmon, 24d. to 30d.; grilse, 18d. to 21d.; soles, 12d. to 15d.; slips, 12d. to 16d. per lb.; live eels, 25/- to 35/-; dead, 15/- to 20/- per draft; turbot, 9/- to 11/-; brill, 9/- to 10/-; plaice, 10/- to 15/-; halibut, 12/- to 16/-; lemon soles, 13/- to 14/-, cod, 7/- to 8/-; whitings, 3/- to 6/-; hake, 8/- to 9/-; haddocks, 4/- per stone.

GRIMSBY FISH, Monday.—Forty-four North Sea, five Iceland trawlers, two liners, and six Dutchmen landed a good supply; demand fairly good. Plaice, 15/- to 17/6; lemon soles, 17/6; halibut, 17/-; cod, 10/- to 11/-; skate, 8/- to 10/-; small haddocks, 5/6; kit, 6/-; gibbed, 8/6; dabs, 10/6; codlings, 5/6 per stone; soles, 1/4; turbot, 9d.; brill, 10d. per lb.

Mutton—Scotch tegs, 13/- to 14/-; wethers, ditto; English wethers, 12/8 to 13/4; ewes, both, 5/8 to 6/8. Lamb—English, 12/8 to 14/8.

CORK BUTTER, Monday.—Firsts, 140/-; fresh butter, 140/- per cwt.

PRODUCE.

LONDON, Monday.—SUGAR—Refined goods steady on spot, with a moderate demand. Forward positions quiet and Continental weak. Tate's cubes 85/-, XX 63/3 to 64/3, granulated 60/6 to 61/-, pieces 47/- to 54/-. Lyle's granulated 60/6 to 60/9, yellows 56/-. American granulated spot 59/6, June 29/6 c.f.i., white Java July-August 21/- c.f.i., crystallised West India spot 47/- to 54/6, W.S.R. granulated prompt 32/6, J. 32/- f.o.b. Amsterdam, H.U.M. 32/-, caster 34/- f.o.b. Rotterdam. Term quiet; September quoted 15/6, December 14/6, Czecho-Slovakian granulated prompt 31/-, cubes 33/- f.o.b. terms Hamburg, all per cwt. COFFEE—Spot unchanged; futures steady, quiet; September quoted 43/-, December 43/6 cwt. TEA—Indian auctions of 26,000 packages met with active support for all the finer qualities, but medium and common went off slowly, while irregular; Pekoe sold 4½d. to 1/4, broken orange 1/1 to 2/4½, orange 6½d. to 1/4½d. per lb. RICE steady, quiet; two stars Rangoon spot 16/6, No. 1 garden Siam 17/6 cwt. SPICE—Pepper quiet; fair black Singapore spot sellers 4d., June-August 4d., Aleppy spot 4½d., Tellicherry 4½d., white Singapore 8½d., Muntok 8½d. to 9d., ditto June-August sellers 8½d. Zanzibar cloves spot 9d. Pimento buyers 2½d. Flake tapioca spot 2d. per lb, ditto June-August steamer 15/3. Fair Penang seed pearl 19/6. SAGO FLOUR June-August 13/3. Desiccated Coconut—Fine cut spot 57/-, medium 56/-, halves May-June 49/-, July-August 48/- to 47/6 cwt. JUTE steadily held in face of firm rate of exchange and higher freights, but there was not much response from buyers. Native first marks assortment substitutes June-July steamer sellers £25, lightning substitutes £18 10/-, heart substitutes £14 15/- per ton. Calcutta Hessians and twills dull at previous quotations. HEMP—Manila inactive and largely nominal; J grade May-July quoted £37, K £35 10/-, L £34 10/-, M £30; New Zealand fair June-August £34 ton. SHELLAC market quiet; T.N. spot 380/-. August 380/- cwt. COPRA remained quiet; F.M.S. Straits May-July Rotterdam sold £28 7/6, June-August £28 10/-, July-September £28 15/- to £28 10/-, Ceylon June-August London quoted £30 5/-. PALM KERNELS June-August value £19 10/- per ton. RUBBER market quiet, but steady. London stocks 69,421 tons, a decrease on the week of 842 tons. Plantation crepe spot buyers 8½d., June sold 8¼d., July-September buyers 8½d., October-December sold 9½d.; sheet spot sold 7½d., and buyers. July-September 7½d.; fine hard Para spot quoted 11d., caucho ball ditto 7½d. per lb. OILS—Linseed quiet, easier; spot 34/-, June-August 33/-, September-December 33/9. Rape—Crude spot 54/-, refined 62/-. Cotton—Crude Egyptian spot 30/-. China Wood—Hankow spot 93/-, June-July 64/-. Coconut—Ceylon June-July 46/9, Spot—Oriental casks June-July 33/-, barrels 36/-. Turpentine firm; American spot and June 78/- cwt. Petroleum and resin unaltered. OILSEEDS—Linseed idle; Calcutta June-July sellers £20, Plate ditto £18 17/6. Rapeseed quiet; Toria June-July £30. Cottonseed steady. Egyptian black June sellers £11 5/-, white £10 10/- per ton. Castor quiet. Poppyseed steady; Bombay June-July £23 per ton. LINSEED CAKES—As was anticipated, prices generally have improved on account of dearer seed and the restricted shipments of Continental descriptions, and a fair amount of business has been done at an advance of last week's quotations, to-day's nearest value being £14 per ton spot, £14 10/- per ton July-August, and £15 per ton September-December, while some free quality Plates either make £14 per ton ex ship terms. Cotton Cakes—The demand is barely as strong, but some arrived parcels Egyptian meet a steady sale at £9 17/6 per ton ex ship, with sellers at 2/6 per ton less money for July arrival, while English makes are unchanged at £10 15/- per ton for best brands, and £9 per ton for Bombays. Decorticated Cotton Cakes—A parcel of Bombays in store offers at £13 10/- per ton, and some 42-44 p.c. American meal remains exceptionally good value, and commands rather more money at £12 per ton. Ground Nut Cakes—Fine quality decorticated, 55 p.c. oil and albuminoids, shortly due, may still be bought at £11 10/- per ton ex ship, and undecorticated at £10 per ton ex ship. Coconut Cakes—Rather dearer, still held above the market, but some African and Manila are available at £9 and £9 10/- per ton. Maize Foods—Gerton's maize gluten feed finds a free sale at £8 10/- per ton, and maize germ meal at £9 10/- per ton. Wetheys yellow maize flour is without alteration at £12 10/- per ton, and maize germ feed at £8 10/- per ton. Sugar Foods—Hughes' patent molascuit and molasses meal go quietly into consumption at late rates. Bean cake is obtainable on slightly easier terms at £9 10/- per ton.

CLYDE CRUSHED SUGAR, Monday.—Official Report—The market opens unchanged.

WOOL.

BRADFORD, Monday.—The market is quiet so far as actual business is concerned, users being inclined to await coal settlement and also settlement of textile wages. Topmakers' prices very firm, however, and in some cases advances have had to be quoted in sympathy with raw material. There is a good inquiry for yarns.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

The market for TIN opened firmer, and further hardened on steady support accorded, cash rating 25/- and forward 40/- per ton dearer, as compared with the closing rates of Friday last. Cash quoted £167 to £167 5/-; three months £169 5/- to £169 10/-, settlement price £167. Sales 300 tons: cash done £166 10/-, August done £167 10/- to £168 5/-, three months £168 to £169 10/-. COPPER—Market presented quiet features, but rules a shade firmer on balance. Cash quoted £73 2/6 to £73 5/-, three months £73 5/- to £73 10/-, settlement price £73 2/6. Sales 400 tons: cash at £73 to £73 5/-, middle of July £73 7/6 to £73 5/-, three months at £73 7/6 to £73 10/-. Electro £77 10/- to £78. LEAD ... Sales 500 tons June at £22 15/- to £23 10/-, Sept. £22 5/- to £22. SPELTER firmer; 50 tons June changed hands at £27 5/- per ton.

LONDON FREIGHTS—Monday.

Homeward market opened the week with a quiet demand for carrying space, and rates were barely steady in some directions. The River Plate section displayed moderate interest in heavy grain at rather easier rates, and steamers up-loading to U.K.-Continent June quoted at 47/6 to 50/-, August 42/6 per ton, with usual increases to Scandinavian and Mediterranean ports of discharge. Nitrate ports dull. Moderate coal and cotton charges; Atlantic quiet. Virginia coal to U.K. rules at 6 dollars per ton free discharge, 5 dollars Rotterdam, 5½ dollars French Atlantic or Gibraltar, and 5.75 dollars West Italy. In the East, near Indian ports remain slow, but there is some inquiry from outports. Bombay-Karachi quoted 22/6 deadweight, and 20/- scale basis. Saigon rice 45/- to Continent, with Dalny beans and wheat worth 47/6 to U.K.-Continent. Australian grain quiet, 55/- indicated July loading to U.K. with options. Mediterranean and Black Sea ports meet occasional inquiries for mineral ore on Continental account. Danube grain steady. Other markets nominal. Fixtures—Pennsylvania, 4,200 tons, San Lorenzo to U.K.-Continent 1st to 20th July 47/6, heavy grain; Marshal Plumer, American Northern States to Rio Grande Do Sul, prompt 4½ dollars, coal.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

Catalogues, comprising 10,962 bales free wool, were brought forward last evening. The sale passed off with great spirit, fine wools realising highest prices of the series, but short, low, and burry cross-breds sold with irregularity. Punta Arenas wools sold without further change from the prices realised at previous sale of this series.

COOMBE HOSPITAL.

The June meeting of the Board of Guardians and Directors of the Coombe Hospital was held in the Boardroom on the 8th inst., where there were present:—Alderman J. Hubbard Clark, High Sheriff (in the chair); Very Rev. M. D. Canon Scally, P.P.; Dr. R. A. MacLaverty, Master; Hugh Kennedy, Dr. Louis A. Byrne, James Robinson, M.A.; Charles H. Chaytor, M.A.; W. H. Verschoyle. Apologies were submitted from Captain W. Lombard Murphy, M.B., and Wm. Cotter Stubbs, M.A.

The notice of meeting read. The minutes of Board meeting of the 10th May and House Committee of 6th June read, confirmed, and signed, and cheques ordered to be signed in payment of monthly accounts, £446 5/6. A letter was read from the Committee of the Dublin Clinical Hospitals in connection with the Hospitals Fête, and enclosing a cheque for £1,959 15/-, being amount allocated from the fund by the Executive Committee, to this hospital. The Board ordered that their very best thanks be tendered to Sir Henry McLaughlin and his colleagues for this very gratifying result of their efforts.

The Board also noted with great satisfaction the receipt of £1,105 from the National Relief Fund, and desire to publicly express their appreciation of the gift.

The Registrar was instructed to convey to Sir Horace Plunkett, P.C., and Hon. Ernest Guinness the desire of the Board that they should accept the position of Honorary Life Governor, respectively, of the hospital as a token of appreciation of their gifts to the Hospitals Fête funds.

Monthly reports were submitted by the Master, the Registrar, the Matron, and the Nurses' Home Staff Sister, and rulings made thereon, and special thanks passed to the Linen Guild Ladies' Committee for their gift of blankets for patients' use.

The Board desire to express their thanks to the following kind friends for financial help as specified hereunder.

Routine business having been transacted, the Board adjourned.

£1,959 15/-—Grant from Hospital Fête.
£1,105—Grant from National Relief Fund.
£5 2/-—Dispensary collection.
£2 each—Jocelyn H. Thomas, Rev. T. A. Seale.

TOWN TENANTS' LEAGUE.

THE FIXING OF FAIR RENTS.

Mr. William Field, and subsequently Mr. P. J. Carolin, presided on Thursday evening at the usual weekly meeting, held at the offices of the All Ireland Town Tenants' League, 31 Rutland square, Dublin. A large number of tenants were present. Among the more important cases dealt with were those from Aughrim street, Oxmantown road, North Circular road, Melrose avenue, Bay view; Richmond road, Windsor avenue, Lower Dorset street, May street, Drumcondra, Ballybough, Clarendon street, and Kingstown. Most of the present cases arose from demands for increased rents. The owners were written to in each case with the object of having the matters in dispute settled amicably, and in cases where the owners would not co-operate with the tenants, arrangements were made to have the cases defended. Many communications were received from various centres throughout the country approving of the action of the executive in pressing for the extension of that portion of the Rents Act affecting business premises, and the passage of the additional 10 per cent. increase application of the additional 10 per cent. increase.

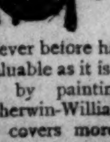

Mr. Field said that the correspondence read that day was evidence of the growing insecurity of business men and rent-payers generally in the prospect of vital sections of the Act expiring. The executive had for many months past been urging the importance of the question, and at the present moment their General Secretary (Councillor Briscoe) was making diligent efforts to have the protection afforded business premises continued for a further period, and to have remedial legislation passed. In his opinion, the only way out of the present impasse was the establishment of a court to fix fair rents. They in their organisation had adopted this principle, and had invited tenants and owners to submit their cases for amicable settlement, and in this way had been successful in effecting settlements and tenants. This system, he understood, had legal sanction in Australia, and he saw no reason why it should not be adopted in this country. In the meantime it was essential that tenants should organise for their mutual protection, and thus strengthen the hands of the executive.

Mr. Carolin said that, pending the passage of compulsory purchase legislation, which was the real solution of the question, fair rent courts should be set up, and, in the absence of these, tenants and owners would be well advised to submit all matters in dispute to the executive of the League, and see if they could be settled amicably. Their desire was to deal fairly with owners and tenants, and during the past twelve months they had settled several hundred cases to the satisfaction of all parties concerned.

After transacting routine business, the meeting adjourned to 5 p.m. on Thursday next.

A Rio de Janeiro telegram, dated Sunday, states that an Italian airman named Camillo Pivori and his mechanic were killed in an aeroplane crash to-day.
